BOSTON "STABBER" MAKES HIS ESCAPE.

Northampton, March 18 (A.P.).—Donald Capiro, Boston "stabber," today escaped from an attendant who was taking him to the United States Veterans' Hospital here. Capiro was a former inmate and was arrested for attacks on Boston women, made his getaway just after they left the station. A large detail of police, assisted by a citizens' posse started a search for the man.

ORDER DR. McGAULEY GIVE TENANTS MORE HEAT

Dr. Walter G. McGauley of Jamaicaway, one of the defeated candidates for Mayor at the election last Fall, was ordered by Judge Murray in Municipal Court today to supply more heat for tenants of an apartment house owned by him in Marlborough street, Back Bay. Temperatures in the apartments hovered around 40 or 45 degrees during most of the Winter, according to tenants.

LEAGUE DISARMAMENT PARLEY IN MAY

Geneva, March 18 (I.N.S.).—The League of Nations council today decided to summon a preliminary conference to discuss disarmament on May 18. A preliminary economic conference was also ordered convened on April 26.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS, unable to settle its internal fight, has adjourned sine die, with Germany out of the League.

President Coolidge and the Senate please notice. A League that cannot maintain peace in its own assembly at Geneva will hardly maintain peace among nations scattered over the face of Europe.

This nation should keep out of the League's front door and out of the back door, called "The World Court."

Our League of Nations, forty-eight States, reaching from the Atlantic to the Pacific, should satisfy us.

PEKING IS SAID to be in a "near-chaos condition," and Japan is gravely concerned," for good reasons.

If China goes to pieces and cannot buy or sell goods, that will be bad for business, Japanese and European.

China might be beaten into order sufficient for business purposes. But there are the Bolsheviki.

Japan fears that Bolshevism may back the Chinese agitation, and remembering that the Allied nations of Europe combined were unable to coerce Russia, Japan would not care to undertake that job alone.

EUGENE C. MAY, highly educated, has left this earth in disgust. Years ago he learned the location of a schooner sunk in a few fathoms of water on its way from the Australian gold fields with $10,000,000 in gold on board.

Trying to get the gold he flitted out two expeditions, spent all he had, more than $100,000, and failed. He opened the veins in his wrists, died, and now his ashes will be scattered on the surface of the Pacific Ocean above the $10,000,000 in gold that he did not get. A good text for

Beer-Wine Vote Still Rolling Up Great Majority

Thousands of New Englanders continue to participate in the national poll on the prohibition issue which the Boston Evening American and other Hearst newspapers, in co-operation with additional leading dailies throughout the country, are making.

Interest in the vote continues unabated. Many of the ballots are accompanied by striking arguments for and against prohibition. That the whole country is alive to the importance of the question is evident from perusal of these missives.

The Boston Evening American poll's results, to date, follow:

1—Are you in favor of the existing prohibition law?
Yes 267 No 7272

2—Are you in favor of local option?
Yes 5991 No 952

3—Are you in favor of modification of the Volstead Act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer with 2¾ per cent. alcoholic content?
Yes 6581 No 606

4—Are you in favor of modification of the Volstead Act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and light wines?

PRESIDENT IS GOING TO SEE DYING DAD; LATTER FAST NEARING HIS END

Washington, March 18 (A.P.).—President Coolidge decided today to leave Washington for the bedside of his father in Vermont as soon as arrangements could be made. It was indicated that he might be able to get away early in the afternoon.

Plymouth, Vt., March 18.—Colonel John C. Coolidge, father of the President, had a serious sinking spell today and his condition is admitted to be critical.

Dr. Albert M. Cram, the family physician, in a bulletin this noon said his patient was sinking gradually and indicated the possibility of "new developments" within 24 hours.

At midnight Colonel Coolidge had a heart tremor which alarmed his nurse, Mrs. May Johnson, but he called quickly and the physician was not summoned.

Early today a second severe attack occurred, the Colonel's pulse reaching a beat of 140. Dr. Cram was called and hurried from Bridgewater by snowmobile. An hour or so later he first admitted that the 86-year-old patient was nearing the end.

END IS FAST NEARING.

For days Colonel Coolidge has been unable to take nourishment and has been growing weaker hour by hour. Today Dr. Cram set the limit on his span of life at 48 hours. As soon as Dr. Cram had made this announcement the President was informed by telephone of his father's grave condition. Word was then received here that the President was preparing to leave Washington today for his father's bedside. It was expected here that the President would arrive by tomorrow morning.

Selectman Azro Johnson, who has been entrusted by Colonel Coolidge with his funeral arrangements, has been advised by Dr. Cram to have the snowbanks in front of the Coolidge home removed at once.

Son John Is Awaiting Call to Plymouth

Northampton, Mass., March 18 (A.P.).—John Coolidge, son of the President, who is a sophomore at Amherst College, was informed today by the Associated Press of his grandfather's critical condition. The youth said he had not yet received word from the White House as to his father's plans and would not leave for Plymouth until he heard from Washington.

RESCUED MAN DIES IN AMBULANCE; WOMEN, CHILDREN CARRIED OUT

Two Boston policemen were heroes of two fires today, one in Charlestown, where a man was rescued, only to die later, and the other in the North End, where 25 men, women and children were driven from their tenement by smoke and flames.

Responding to a call of "fire," Patrolman Thomas Burke dashed into the house at No. 206 Main street, Charlestown, broke in the door of the third-floor suite and, plunging through smoke and flames, dragged out Charles H. Seymour, 45 years old. Seymour died before arrival at the Haymarket Relief Hospital.

Damage to the house was confined to the top floor and was slight. Five families were led to safety in the North End fire when Patrolman Horan discovered the blaze, realized the danger to the people in

LEAGUE DEBATES U. S. WORLD COURT ENTRY

Geneva, March 18 (A.P.)—Convocation of a special conference of World Court members to discuss the reservations to American adherence was said by League officials today to be the probable plan of Sir Austen Chamberlain.

The British Foreign Secretary at this morning's session of the League Council initiated a motion, which was unanimously adopted, placing the matter of the American reservations on the Council's agenda for this afternoon.

It is expected that, if the conference materializes, the United States will be invited to send a representative, so that the delegates of the other court members may benefit from his explanation of the American conditions.

MOTORCYCLIST KILLED IN CRASH WITH SEDAN

Speeding to work on his motorcycle, Langdon Hall, 21, of Bradlee road, Medford, was instantly killed today when he collided with a coupe driven by Elon W. Sehlin of Prescott street, Everett, at the Fellsway and Mystic avenue, Somerville.

Hall was hurled fifty feet. Though rushed to Somerville Hospital by Patrolmen Donovan and Groves, surgeons said death was probably instantaneous.

DRY LAW CHANGE TO GET PUBLIC AIRING

Washington, March 18 (I.N.S.).—The controversy over modifying the American prohibition law will be fought out at public hearings before the Senate judiciary "beer" committee, it was learned today.

Yielding to the demands of the wets for an open forum on their proposal to amend the dry law, the committee will grant the request for hearings, it was said, but all testimony will be limited strictly to the subject of modification.

TALKS TO DEAD, SAYS SIR OLIVER LODGE

London, March 18 (A.P.).—Sir Oliver Lodge, noted scientist and spiritualist, asserted in an address at Christ Church, Blackfriars, today, that he frequently talks with the dead. He urged his hearers not to be afraid of death, because there is no extinction.

"There are no dead in this churchyard," he declared. He described death as a new adventure, and said that in the life beyond we may go up or down according to how we have made use of our opportunities in this life."

American Budget Editor Solves Home Problems

"What's the good of a home budget. It's just figures."

This challenge was fired at a budget expert by a Boston girl.

"Yes," said the expert; "it's just figures; but sometimes figures spell happiness, even romance. One day—"

And then she told this story:

A young wife came to her, trouble on her brow, tears in her eyes.

"I don't understand about budgeting, but I'd like to try it," she said tremulously. "Otherwise I'm afraid the connecting tenement and broke down the door so they could reach the open.

The fire was in the four-story brick building at No. 417 Hanover street, owned by the Joseph Green estate and occupied by Frank Call as a dry goods store. The loss was estimated at $3,000.

Nicholas Montenegro, an occupant of the tenement, was overcome by smoke and was carried out by firemen. Among those who fled to the street were Mrs. Matilda Festa and two children, Mr. and Mrs. G. Bifano and Mr. and Mrs. Vito Pisco and seven children.

Damage of $1,000 was done to the building at No. 169 Merrimac street, West End, by a fire of undetermined origin, where thirty persons fled.

PASSENGERS AND CREW SAVED AS SHIP BURNS

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, March 18 (A.P.).—A disaster at sea was narrowly averted when an S O S called a rescuing ship in time to remove the passengers and crew from the burning British steamer Paparoa, 400 miles northwest of this port.

The Paparoa, a vessel of 4,898 tons, left Liverpool on February 20 for Brisbane, Australia. The fire broke out in her No. 3 hold. Distress calls brought the British steamers Barrabool, Diogenes and Aeneas racing to her assistance. The Barrabool took off the passengers and crew and the Paparoa was abandoned.

Beds Acute Problem in Little Plymouth

Plymouth, Vt., March 18 (A.P.).—This Green Mountain hamlet is in the throes of a housing crisis. With the President planning to visit his father, Colonel John C. Coolidge, who is dying at his home here, Plymouth has no place to house scores who will follow the country's chief executive.

The village includes four farmhouses, two tenements, a store, a cheese factory, school house and church. The population is twenty-nine. Already more than a score of newspaper correspondents and photographers are quartered at the general store conducted by Miss Florence Cilley. The farmhouses have been reserved for national guardsmen, secret service men and other members of the President's retinue.

A handful of correspondents arriving a week ago taxed the capacity of Miss Cilley's impromptu hotel. Each day there were more arrivals and room was made for all until the saturation point was reached today. The public hall above the store is filled with cots, some of which were borrowed for the purpose from the court house at Woodstock.

Telegraph instruments click in the room where fifteen men attempt to sleep. A side room above the store houses the crews of several news associations.

Cots are furnished, but guests must bring their own bedding. Horse blankets were rented or purchased from Ludlow merchants until the stocks ran out. Orders were sent to the woolen mills for more bedding, but still there is a dearth. The hotels in Ludlow, Woodstock and Bridgewater are too far away when the roads are buried in snowdrifts.

The general store is the only restaurant. The too numerous guests eat in relays at tables set in a sun parlor heated with oil stoves. Huge drifts obscure the view from the windows of this dining room.

One of the few visitors to Colonel Coolidge's sick room today was Frank W. Agan, Ludlow mill owner, who called about noon. The sick man was too feeble to speak to him.

Mr. Agan has been the chief factor in efforts to keep open the Ludlow-Plymouth road, to motor traffic in the event of a visit by the President.

A rotary snowplow had broken through from Ludlow this afternoon and was driving slowly through great drifts toward the President's birthplace.

WIFE GUILTY OF BEATING GIRL HUSBAND MET

Mrs. Mabel Lutz of North Harvard street, Allston, was today found guilty by a Suffolk Superior Court jury of assault and battery on Mrs. Elibsena Pickard of Mansfield street, Allston, on the night of October 29.

Mrs. Lutz, who was given a three months' sentence on the same charge in Roxbury court and appealed, will be sentenced tomorrow.

According to the evidence, Mrs. Pickard, suspicious of her husband, hid in the rear of his automobile on the night of October 29, covering herself with a robe. She said her husband drove the car to Dudley street and Brooks avenue, Roxbury, where he met Mrs. Lutz, then a resident of Mansfield street and a friend of the Pickard family.

SCHOOL TEACHER ROBBED, BEATEN, LEFT IN SNOW

Biddeford, Me., March 18 (A.P.).—The police today are searching for two assailants who struck Miss Ella Small, a school teacher, over the head, took her handbag and left her lying unconscious in a snowbank. Returning home from an entertainment, she was accosted by the men. When she resisted their attempts to take her handbag she was struck awice. Neighbors found her unconscious.

must accept the American conditions before the adherence becomes effective.

Sir Austen explained that the secretary-general of the league, Sir Eric Drummond, had received a communication from the American minister at Berne enclosing from Secretary of State Kellogg a letter outlining the conditions of the American government's proposed adherence to the court. Sir Eric had immediately taken steps to inform all the signatories to the court protocol.

VOTE UNANIMOUS.

"I suggest," Sir Austen said, "that it would be courteous to the United States Government that we take notice of this communication and put the question on the agenda for this afternoon." This motion was seconded and carried unanimously.

Officials said the council would undoubtedly act cautiously in the matter, but called attention to the fact that it was impossible totally to divorce the League from America's proposed adherence to the court, first because eventual American ratification must be deposited with the League secretariat and second because the American reservations really affect the prerogatives and even the composition of the council itself.

U. S. TO NAME JUDGES.

The council is affected, it was pointed out, because one of the Senate's reservations emphasizes that the United States shall have the right to participate in the election of judges and because the judges are elected concurrently by the council and assembly. Hence, it was explained, it is conceivable that an official representative of the United States would when to all with the members of the council for the purposes of [illegible].

Moreover, it was remarked that the Senate reservation concerning the court's [illegible] opinions affects the council at least indirectly, as it is the council which always requests such opinions.

The League Council, at a secret session today, decided that the special commission to be appointed for revision of the [illegible] tion would meet on May 10 in Geneva.

The commission will be composed of representatives of the States composing the Council, as well as delegates from Argentina, Germany, Poland, China and Switzerland.

HOOVER RUBBER PLAN IS RIGHT, SAYS BRITON

London, March 18 (A.P.)—Colonial Secretary Amery stated in the House of Commons today that he was closely watching the rubber situation, and hoped to be able to make a public statement in a fortnight regarding release of crude rubber under the Stevenson restriction scheme.

Eric Miller, former chairman of the British Rubber Growers' Association and a member of the committee which formulated the Stevenson plan, told guests at an American Chamber of Commerce luncheon today he considered Secretary Hoover's efforts to arouse the interests of Americans in the importance of the rubber industry entirely proper.

He differed with Mr. Hoover only over details, such as the attention the Secretary gave to the speculative phase of the industry.

"It is amazing," he said, "that the United States, which consumes two-thirds of the world's rubber production, is represented by only 2½ per cent. of the capital invested in the industry. This fact alone shows what faith and confidence the Americans must have had in the British methods."

He reiterated the British contention that the Stevenson plan benefited every user of rubber in the world, as it saved the plantations from ruin.

OPPOSE RADIO SIGNALS FOR 'NO SCHOOL'

Radio broadcasting of no-school signals versus the sounding of the signals on electrically operated sirens will be argued out at the town meeting in Brookline next Tuesday evening.

Parents of school children in the town are besieging the authorities with protests because the town advisory board recommended that no action be taken on a proposed appropriation of $2,000 for installation of the sirens.

They will combat the suggestion of notifying school children of the abandonment of sessions by radio with the declaration that a check-up has disclosed that out of 5,739 pupils only 2,669 have radio sets in their homes.

Demand for the sirens originated when during one of the big storms of the Winter the fire department was besieged with 153 telephone calls in a 24-minute period, all from parents of school children who wanted to know if school sessions would be held.

In reply to the statement that Brookline would resemble a factory community if sirens were sounded, those demanding the sirens declare that no-school signals are sounded on the average only four times a year.

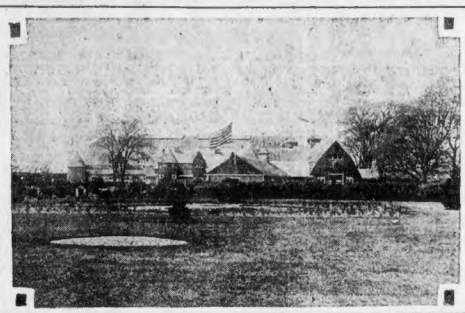
HIGH SCHOOL HORSES AND TRAPPINGS OF VANDERBILT HOBBY FARM TO BE SOLD



In the heyday of his activities the stables of "Reggie" Vanderbilt won renown at horse shows. Mr. Vanderbilt was an expert in the saddle and on the box of a coach, brake, or trap. He could drive a foursome to a coach, a tandem or a "spike" to a brake, and bring out the beauty of gait, style and education of his equine pets to perfection. He was the social hero and a blue ribbon winner at horse shows.

That all the horses, live stock and equipment of "Sandy Point," his hobby farm, are to be sold at auction, is no sign that Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt has only a pittance.

"Sandy Point," Newport, with its blue blooded horses, sheep and cattle, its up-to-the minute equipage and machinery was never a paying venture—merely a rich man's toy and for that reason the trustees of the estate have ordered a dispersion sale at which the pets of the great farm, which originally cost a king's ransom, are to be sold on the auction block to the highest and best bidder.

When the funeral of Reginald Vanderbilt was held, last September, his favorite mounts stood at the gates, mourners, as the body of their master passed.

TWO BABIES ARE BORN ON TRAIN; ONE DIES

Mother and Second Child Are Doing Well; Mystery Veils Babe Who Passed Away

Two babies were born today on the Montreal to Boston train and when Conductor C. L. Hayes had finished acting as nurse, he had sent a mother and one babe to a Nashua, N. H., hospital and a second new born to a Lowell hospital.

The baby taken from the train at Lowell, a girl, died three hours later at the Lowell General Hospital, with her origin and identity a mystery.

Both infants were born on the fast flier before it reached Nashua. It was believed at first that both were the children of Mrs. Adelina Pellerin, twenty-two, of St. George, Windsor, Canada.

Mrs. Pellerin became the mother of a boy, in the woman's room of a day coach, but the second baby, found after she and her new son had been sent to the Memorial Hospital at Nashua, was well-wrapped in clothing, and the young wife later declared that the girl child was not hers, although it also was found in the woman's room.

Mrs. Pellerin, the wife of Ulric Pellerin of St. George, boarded the Canadian Pacific train at Sherbrooke last night. She had with her a year-old son.

RUSHED TO HOSPITAL.

Just before the flier, routed to Boston over the Boston & Maine lines, reached Nashua, Conductor Hayes heard cries in the woman's room of the day coach and asked a woman passenger if she would investigate for him.

Then the excitement began and when it was all over Mrs. Pellerin and the new infant were bundled up, placed in an ambulance at the Nashua depot and rushed to Memorial Hospital and the care of Dr. A. W. Snea.

Neither mother nor child, seemingly, suffered any ill effects.

The express was underway again between Nashua and Lowell, when the ears of Conductor Hayes and a brakeman caught more cries from the same room of the same coach.

SECOND CHILD DIES.

A bit dazed, the conductor again enlisted the services of the woman passenger and this time a new-born infant girl, wrapped warmly, was found in the room.

Another ambulance was called this one at Lowell, and with Patrolman Bernard J. Gilbo of the Lowell police attending, the baby was taken to the General Hospital, where it died.

Dr. Shea questioned Mrs. Pellerin when word of the second infant came, but she denied being the mother of the second baby.

The mother was on her way to Milford, N. H., she told the doctor.

ARMY OFFICER, ON SCAFFOLD, SEALS LIPS

Manila, March 18 (A.P.).—Second Lieut. John S. Thompson, U. S. A., was hanged here today for the murder of his seventeen-year-old fiancee whom he said he could not live without or marry because of his insufficient salary. He was the first American officer to be executed in peace time.

Calmly and without making a statement, Thompson, who was twenty-five years old, walked to a scaffold in a warehouse in Fort McKinley, after a day with his spiritual adviser and his attorney.

Thompson killed Miss Audrey Burleigh in Manila on April 5, 1925. She was the step-daughter of Captain Hamilton P. Calmes, Medical Corps, and they were engaged to be married.

Thompson became despondent because of his inability to marry the girl and said he decided suddenly to kill her and intended to end his life. He feared that if the wedding was delayed he would never be able to make Miss Burleigh his wife.

The killing occurred after Thompson had driven from Fort McKinley to the Army and Navy Club, where Miss Burleigh had danced at an amateur entertainment. Inviting her to take a drive, Thompson had his Filipino chauffeur go toward old Fort San Antonio Abad.

There the officer informed the corporal of the guard that Miss Burleigh's body was in the car, and requested that he be locked up.

His counsel sought to prove absence of malice or premeditation and obtained a continuance to introduce depositions that Thompson was of unsound mind.

3-CORNERED FIGHT GIVES PINCHOT HEEBIE JEEBIES

Philadelphia, March 18 (A.P.).—Pennsylvania's three-cornered contest revolving around the Republican nomination for the United States Senate was enlivened today when Senator Pepper received in his mail a letter from Governor Pinchot telling him he had been afflicted with "heebie jeebies" by the announcement of Congressman Vare's candidacy, precluding the possibility of the Senator receiving the full support of the Philadelphia organization.

MOTHER DARES DEATH IN SAVING HER BABE

Brockton, March 18.—Braving the dense smoke and flames that filled the kitchen of her home, Mrs. J. Frank Clark of No. 13 Stoddard lane, dashed into the house and rescued her year-old daughter, Elizabeth. The child was sleeping in a room beyond the kitchen. Mrs. Clark was slightly scorched and her clothing was burned.

$300,000 FIRE HARD FIGHT FOR TAUNTON FORCE

Taunton, March 18 (A.P.).—With an actual loss estimated at $100,000 and replacement costs put at $200,000, the Barnum street school, one of the oldest in the city and located in the heart of a thickly settled residential section, was destroyed by fire which kept the Taunton department busy until nearly daylight this morning.

The fire is thought to have originated in the boiler room and to have been caused by an overheated furnace. A third alarm brought out every piece of fire apparatus in the city.

During the early stages the firemen were handicapped by low water pressure. Until the booster pumps went into action it was feared several houses in the vicinity would become ignited from the sparks.

To consider the city's need of additional fire apparatus a special meeting of the Municipal Council was called this morning by Mayor Andrew J. McGraw.

DUCHESS NEAR DEATH WHILE DRESS BURNS

London, March 18.—The Duchess of Sutherland, dancing at a ball given by an American hostess in Rome, narrowly escaped burning to death. Her dress was decorated with tiny balloons, one of which caught fire from a candle while she was dancing. After the fire was extinguished the duchess calmly returned to her dancing.

DRUSES AMBUSH AND KILL FRENCH TROOPS

Beirut, Syria, March 18 (A.P.).—A detachment of French Senegalese troops was ambushed today by Druse tribesmen and most of its members were killed. Only a few escaped to rejoin their comrades at Rachava. They reported that the Druses had massacred the wounded on the field.

Washington, March 18 (A.P.).—The income of national banks would be subject to State taxation under a bill passed today by the Senate. A similar measure will be taken up Tuesday by the House.

JAIL WIRES TO FLASH NEWS OF CHAPMAN'S END

Hartford, Ct., March 18 (A.P.).—From the room in the State prison where Gerald Chapman was a witness in his own behalf in his appeal to the first of three Federal Courts which passed on his case will go the news of the hanging of the mail robber and convicted slayer on the morning of April 6.

In view of the unusual public interest in the Chapman case and the numerous requests for special accommodations at the prison, Warden H. K. W. Scott has decided to fit the State Board of Pardons chamber as a newspaper correspondents' room for the occasion.

It will be the first time in the history of the Connecticut State prison that special telegraph wires will be run into the institution to facilitate quick news service.

Chapman's counsel are to meet here on Saturday and discuss plans for a final effort to save their client from hanging on April 6. It is understood that they have under consideration a plan to secure from the United States District Court a writ of habeas corpus that the entire case may be reviewed.

Meantime Chapman spends most of his time in reading. For an hour each day he exercises, in company with a guard. Only his counsel visit him.

BIDS MASSACHUSETTS TO PHILADELPHIA FAIR

Capt. James A. B. Francisous, secretary of the Sesquicentennial Commission of Philadelphia, obtained an appointment with Governor Alvan T. Fuller today regarding the possible participation of Massachusetts in the coming celebration. According to Secretary Herman MacDonald, the Philadelphia man wants the Bay State to send the Governor, the Legislature, State Constabulary, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company and to erect a $250,000 building at the Philadelphia exposition.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS DENIES GREEK PLEA

Geneva, March 18 (A.P.).—The demand of Greece that the Permanent Court of International Justice be asked to decide the dispute between Turkey and Greece over the Thrace frontier was rejected today by the Council of the League of Nations. This leaves the dispute for the Delimitation Commission to settle.

MOVE FOR PEACE IN FISH EXCHANGE ROW

Hearing of a petition in Federal District Court today by the New England Fish Exchange against alleged abuses of the privileges of the organization by independent dealers was halted while both sides entered into a conference. William N. Nobie, counsel for the Exchange, invited his opponents into the conference, although declaring "there was hardly any hope of agreement."

PRIEST SAVES MGR. DAURAY IN RECTORY FIRE

Woonsocket, R. I., March 18.—Mgr. Charles Dauray, who recently celebrated his 88th birthday, was rescued, three firemen were overcome by smoke and two injured when a general alarm fire swept the rectory of the Precious Blood Church on Carrington avenue today.

Rev. George C. Bedard carried out Mgr. Dauray, gave the alarm and then rushing back into the burning rectory saved the church documents.

Rev. Emile Belleau and Rev. Ernest Morin, trapped by smoke, climbed around the cornice of the building and reached the ground by ladders. Other occupants who escaped unaided were Canon Stephen Courte of Paris, who is conducting a retreat at th church; Rev. Donat Lussier, Paul Fourier, a nephew of Mgr. Dore; Miss Therese Fourier, his sister; Mrs. Celestine Bedard, mother of Rev. Fr. Bedard, and three maids, Anita Gauthier, Marie Le-Brun and Louise Cyr.

The fire, believed to have started from an oil-burning heater in the basement, was discovered by Fr. Bedard. The flames worked up through the structure, cutting off the stairs. Thought to be under control they burst through the roof and Chief Cote ordered a second alarm, to be followed by a third, summoning all firemen.

William McKenna of Hose 1, Donat Sylvester of Ladder 1 and Albert Levesques of the same company were overcome by smoke. Andre Thibodeau of Ladder 1 was injured when a timber fell on his head. Firemen rescued A. McClure of Ladder 2 on whom a section of roof collapsed. The victims were taken to the Woonsocket Hospital.

ALIENS WITH FAMILIES HERE TO GET PRIORITY

Washington, March 18 (A.P.).—A draft of a resolution designed to grant relief to citizens and aliens in the United States who are separated from their families because of immigration quota restrictions has been sent to the Senate by Secretary of Labor Davis.

It would be operative for one year beginning June 30, 1927, and under it any alien over 21 who has been lawfully admitted could petition the secretary of labor for priority in the issuance of a quota immigration visa for a wife, husband, minor children, step-children, father or mother.

SEASONABLE WEATHER PROMISED FOR 2 DAYS

Seasonable temperatures prevail throughout New England for the first time this month, according to the local weather bureau, and will continue hereabouts for the next 48 hours, at least. Cloudy skies tonight and tomorrow are predicted, together with fresh and possibly strong southwest winds varying to north and northeast tonight. The minimum temperature in Boston for the night was 30 above.

HUSBAND GONE MANY MONTHS

After eight months of vain waiting Mrs. Sadie Wilson of Mattapan has appealed to the Boston Evening American to help find her husband, Maurice, who disappeared from home in August, 1925.

Three little children ask for their daddy daily. While the police also have been notified, not a trace of Wilson has been found since he left home. It is believed he may have headed for some part of Canada. He was born in Montreal.

Wilson's description, at the time of his disappearance, is given by his wife as follows: 5 feet 2 inches tall; 140 pounds weight; blue eyes; sandy hair, parted in the middle; fair, smooth complexion; soft features; no mustache. He wore a signet ring with the initials "MW," and also a wedding ring.

The three Wilson children are: Harriet Arline, seven; Carlton Chester, five, and Alan Irwin, eleven months.

21 DROWN AS ITALIAN SHIP SINKS IN CRASH

London, March 18 (U.N.S.).—Twenty-one members of the crew of the Italian steamer Fagerness were drowned today when the vessel was sunk off St. Ives, Cornwall, in collision with another vessel. Ten members of the crew were rescued. The Fagerness was a vessel of 3,151 tons.

THREE WHO WAIT IN VAIN FOR THEIR DADDY WHO DOESN'T RETURN

Maurice Wilson of Mattapan, who disappeared last August and has not communicated with his wife since. She has asked the Boston Evening American and the police to find him.

Harriett Arline Wilson, aged seven, who simply cannot understand why her daddy should stay away from such a nice little girl such a long, long time, and who wishes very much that he'd write if he cannot return just yet.

Carlton Chester Wilson, five, who has gravely discussed with his little sister the strange disappearance of their father and the grief of their mother as a consequence. Every day they expect him to come back or to send them some word.

Baby Alan Irwin Wilson, although he doesn't say so, for he's only eleven months old, would doubtless chuckle and coo quite gaily, too, if his daddy would come walking in to play with him some evening.

GIRL WHO GAVE DIME TO FUND GETS THRILL

Roxbury Friend of "Old Ironsides" Invited to Show as Reward for Sacrifice

Good acts still are rewarded, even in these modern days.

Witness the case of little Anna Brown of No. 7 Robey street, Roxbury. Anna passed up the movies last week and sent her dime to the Boston Evening American to be forwarded to help save "Old Ironsides" from the junk heap. Now comes the fairy princess in the form of Gladys Hanson of "The Judge's Husband," playing at Plymouth Theatre, inviting the little Roxbury girl to see a BIG show as her guest.

Mrs. Hanson has a little girl of her own and was deeply touched by the patriotic act of Anna in giving up her dime that the old frigate might be saved. The actress sat down and wrote Anna a letter and the Roxbury child will get the thrill of a lifetime" as a result.

TEXTILE STRIKERS BALK AT ARBITRATION PLANS

Passaic, March 18 (A.P.).—The centre of interest in the New Jersey textile strike has shifted to Washington and striking mill workers in the Passaic district today awaited the answer their leaders will give to a conciliation proposal made through Secretary of Labor Davis.

Mill owners agreed on an arbitration plan. Albert Weisbord, chairman of the strikers' united front committee, balked at the plan and promised counter proposals today.

Though there was some picketing and parading in the mill towns, during which one woman was arrested and two strikers hurt, the strike leaders remaining here were concerned chiefly with what went on in Washington.

Fairy Princess

Mrs. Gladys Hanson, of "The Judge's Husband" has invited little girl who gave movie money for frigate fund to see a big show.

PASTOR WHO SCOFFED AT 'EVE AND SNAKE' OUSTED

Amsterdam, Holland, March 18 (A.P.).—The general synod of the Calvinist Church, now in session at Assen, has decided unanimously to expel the Rev. J. H. Geelkerken from the Reformed Church. He also will be deprived of his pastorate at Amsterdam because he preached while under suspension. The Rev. Mr. Geelkerken some time ago stirred up a religious controversy in Holland when in a sermon he cast doubt upon the story of Eve and the serpent in the Garden of Eden.

WOUNDED VETS CHEERED BY CONCERT

Boston American's Bi-Weekly Show at West Roxbury Goes Over Big

An elaborate program was offered by Senia Russakoff and his Boston Ballet Concerto Company at the Boston Evening American's bi-weekly show for ex-service men still undergoing treatment at United States Hospital in West Roxbury, held today.

The Boston Ballet Concerto Company is a development of the Senia Russakoff School. It is headed by Senia Russakoff and the personnel includes many talented dancers. Naomi Andrews is premiere of the company. She delighted the veterans at the same hospital with solo dances at a Boston Evening American entertainment a few weeks ago.

The other members of the company are Ethel Bon and Rochelle Domineau, character premieres; Thelma Kelley and Minerva Reddy, principal dancers, and Frances Young, Elizabeth Pinkham, Yvette St. Denis, Maria Lamkin and Norma Small; Michael Giglio, Frank Scarpino, Edward Van Huron, George D'Angelo and Peter Minar.

The Boston Ballet Symphonic Ensemble, Harland A. Tiker and N. J. Whitehurst, directors, supplied the music for the dances and as well as a musical program.

Among the numbers on today's program were: "Handel's Largo," "Danse Russe Babl," "Danse Russe Trepak," "Minuet Antique," "Boccanale," "Grand Dance Espagnol" and solos by the principals.

BIG PROGRESS IN FIGHT ON INFANTILE PARALYSIS

The wonderful progress made in fighting the dread infantile paralysis is revealed in the report of the Harvard commission appointed to investigate the disease.

During the year 1925 there were but 164 cases in Massachusetts, as against 272 in 1924, and 217 in 1923.

Perhaps the most impressive figures, showing how the disease has been gradually ousted, are those for 1916 and 1920, when there were respectively 1927 and 693 cases.

During the last decade the Harvard commission has been fighting the disease, not only successfully as the figures prove, but developing a system of after-treatment that has been adopted all over the world.

RADCLIFFE SENIORS WIN IN SONG CONTESTS

Althea Green, '26, song leader, led her class to victory in the second song competition this year in the theatre at Radcliffe.

For two weeks all four classes had held song practices in anticipation of this event. At the first song contest the sophomores captured first place, the seniors, second place. Three judges were chosen from the three upper classes.

First Yankee Warship From Marblehead

The first American naval vessel was fitted out and manned at Marblehead, according to an old document, just discovered there under the floor of a shed.

The paper is drawn up in the form of an agreement between General John Glover of the American army and Archibald Selman.

"This certifies," the paper reads, "that a verbal agreement was made on the tenth day of October, 1775, between John Glover and Mr. Archibald Selman for the use of his schooner Franklin, burden 60 tons, at the rate of six shillings per ton a month."

MAINE QUARANTINES NATIVE PUSSYWILLOWS

Augusta, March 18.—The pussy willow, first harbinger of Spring, will carry no cheer into the snowy regions of northern Maine this year. It is under quarantine.

For the satin moth, which feeds on willow and poplar, is rampant. And Commissioner of Agriculture Frank P. Washburn has quarantined the moth-infested area, which includes most of the southern part of the State.

BUDGET EDITOR OFFERS AID IN SAVING

Boston Evening American Will Show You How to Divide Income

my marriage will turn out a wreck."

"What's the trouble?" asked the helper.

"I am willing to work hard, and to get along on a small income," replied the visitor, "but I haven't been properly trained. My husband is a teacher. My parents are well-to-do; to my husband they seem wealthy but in the circle where I was brought up it didn't seem to be like wealth. So many of our friends were richer.

"At any rate, I had a personal allowance that was larger than my husband's whole income. I was never taught to spend wisely. I suppose I threw my allowance around; I know I never had anything to show for it, except clothes, a lot of them unnecessary.

"When Jack came along I cared so much about him that I was willing to go hungry and shabby with him. We were married. Now I don't want you to think I am complaining of my lot, for I am ready to make any sacrifice for Jack. But what I can't stand is seeing that he has to make sacrifices for me and that I waste his money.

"The fact is, with all the good will in the world, I don't know how to live on our income. Can you help me?"

"Let's see," said the helper; and began to ask a few questions.

She learned that they were paying too large a proportion of their income for rent; too much for clothes for the wife, and not enough for clothes for the husband. The girl had not a selfish nature, but, as she had confessed, didn't know how to manage.

NOTHING FOR PLAY.

The budget expert, however, did not recommend cutting down expenses everywhere. For one thing, they were spending nothing at all for recreation. In their effort to "manage" they were denying themselves all pleasure and entertainment.

"That isn't right," said the helper. "You must have recreation."

"We can't afford it."

"Oh, yes, you can. Let's try."

The girl went home with a tentative budget which she was to try for a month. The next month she made a second visit, and the budget was altered a little. She was already more cheerful.

MANAGE BY HERSELF.

A third visit, and she went away feeling that she could now manage by herself. With a bit of advice from time to time, she succeeded in reorganizing her household management.

Now, after two years, with a very small increase in salary and a very big increase in expenses, in the form of a husky son and heir, the young wife amazes her parents by the skill with which she runs a whole household on what she used to spend for clothes.

Her husband is proud of her, of her appearance, of their home. They call it "the home that budget built."

YOUR home can be run just as successfully, whatever your income. It's all in getting started.

Let the Boston Evening American Home Budget Editor help you to begin.

It isn't hard—not half so hard as trying to pay bills when you have spent all your money for other things.

CUTTING OUT DRESS.

It isn't "deep"—not half so deep and mysterious to Mere Man as cutting out a dress from a bolt of cloth.

In fact, it is a good deal like cutting out a dress. Suppose you have bought a beautiful piece of silk and are planning to make yourself an evening gown.

How do you begin? Just take the shears and slash into the silk any old way?

(Chorus of feminine protest.)

Of course you don't. You get yourself a pattern, and lay the pattern on the cloth, and plan every piece out with the utmost care before you even pink the edge of your material with the shears.

You know that if you just start slashing you will spoil the material and won't have any gown to show for it.

It's just the same with your income!

Your life and your household are an elaborate pattern which must be cut according to your money.

MAKE IT FIT.

How can you possibly make that pattern fit if you start slashing without any plan?

Or a graceful flare.

It's all a question of investment. Let the Home Budget Editor of the Boston American help you "invest."

If you have not yet written for a Home Budget Sheet do so now, and let's start budgeting. Write your problems to this paper, addressing all letters to Miss Katherine Brooks, Home Budget Editor of the Boston American, No. 5 Winthrop square, Boston.

MIND'S EYE VIEW OF HOW A WELL PREPARED HOME BUDGET SHOULD LOOK

SHELTER. Rent of the home, or taxes, interest, upkeep and insurance if you own it, should take about 20 per cent. of the income.

FOOD. The family table should not cost more than 25 per cents. of the income.

CLOTHING. 15 per cent of income should suffice.

OPERATING EXPENSES. Carfare, light, telephone, etc., should cost about 15 per cent. of the income.

PERSONAL UPKEEP. Fifteen per cent. should pay for recreation, health investment and, for this pretty flapper, a "bob" every so often.

SAVINGS. Everyone (this means you) should try to plan for 10 per cent. of the income tucked safely away against a rainy day.

BARE MARRIAGE, BOY KILLS SELF

New York, March 18 (I.N.S.)—Driven mad by the threats of his parents to annul his marriage, Louis Cavello, sixteen, lies dead by his own hand today. Before the eyes of his pretty schoolgirl wife, Helen, also sixteen, he shot himself in the head.

Cavello, a pupil in continuation school, ran away with Helen last January. They had planned to keep the marriage a secret until they became of age. They met for a short while each night, then each went home to write love letters. One of the letters fell into the hands of Cavello's parents.

Women and Guard Must Wear Hats During Trials

They explained they were obeying service rules

Philadelphia, May 18.—Women must keep their hats on at the trial of David L. Marshall, chiropractor, for murdering Anna May Dietrich.

When one spectator uncovered to relieve a headache she was informed: "This isn't a movie; it's a murder trial."

ASK POLICE TO SEEK AGED MAN

The police have been asked to find George H. Adams, No. 116 Riverway, an 80-year-old man who vanished from home.

Adams is a retired business man. His disappearance was reported to the Roxbury Crossing station today.

The octogenarian left his home at 6 p. m. yesterday to take a walk. He is five feet eight inches tall, weighs 150 pounds, has gray hair, beard and mustache, and wore a gray soft hat above the old-fashioned cape.

NEAR MILLION VOTES CAST IN DRY POLL

Leading newspapers everywhere have joined with the Hearst chain of publications in making this poll a comprehensive one. Those in New England working in conjunction with the Boston Evening American are Waterbury, Ct., Democrat, Laconia, N. H., Evening Citizen, and Holyoke, Mass., Telegram.

The result to date in the poll being conducted by the Waterbury, Ct., Democrat, in conjunction with the Boston Evening American, is as follows: For modification, 1,678; for repeal, 549; for existing law, 37.

How about YOUR vote? Why not obey that impulse and cast your ballot NOW? We want YOUR vote and those of every adult member of your family as well as all your friends. May we count on YOU?

New York, March 18.—The number of votes cast in the Hearst nation-wide prohibition poll, being conducted in co-operation with many other newspapers throughout the United States, approached the million mark today when a grand total of 965,407 was reached.

GIRL PLAYS DETECTIVE; MAY GET BACK $100 BILL

Gloucester, March 18.—Jermaine Poovey, of Lawrence, waited nearly five months for her change from a hundred dollar bill, but now, after acting as her own detective, she expects to get it.

Miss Poovey works in Summer hotels during the season, and last Summer was employed here. At the end of the season, she said, Chester G. McCarthy of Mt. Pleasant avenue, Gloucester, whom she met, told her a hard-luck story, and concluded by saying he needed $20 to take him to a new job.

Miss Poovey had a $100 bill and gave it to McCarthy to change. He never came back, said Miss Poovey.

But on a visit here she saw McCarthy on the street and called a policeman.

2 R. I. SLAYER SUSPECTS HUNTED IN CONNECTICUT

Providence, March 18.—Arrests of two men in connection with the murder of Harold R. Hillman, Auburn store manager, were expected today by Cranston and Providence following a midnight expedition into Connecticut. Three officers, including Special Investigator John De Avila of the attorney general's office, left the Cranston police early today for a Connecticut town, where a fresh clew has been uncovered.

NOISE RHYTHM OF MILL TO TEACH SAFETY FIRST

Pittsburgh, March 18 (A.P.).—A tune for the rhythmical noises of the steel mill has been found. Seeking a method by which safety first lessons can be brought home to millworkers, Harry M. Sparr, fire chief at a Carnegie steel plant here, has been teaching employes a safety first rhyme, with the thrub of machinery as a tune.

Sparr's theory is that the various continuous noises of the mill will automatically bring to the millworkers' minds the rhyme and its safety first lesson.

WIFE IS 50-50 IN AMERICA, SAYS SINGER

Contrasts Native Wooer With the Imported Kind for Husband Material

American men make ideal, one hundred per cent. husbands—and then some.

Many members of the fair sex in Boston may not think so, but it is the firm conviction of Aileen Stanley, vivacious phonograph girl, now appearing at a local theatre.

And she ought to know, for she has just returned from an extended tour abroad, where she sang herself into the heart of princes in London; counts in that dear Paree; Don Quixotes in Spain, and dukes in Italy.

Said she: "The average American man has what I would term an all-around-happy combination of the outstanding qualities of foreign men.

"The Germans consider that a woman is mainly for the kitchen, the church and children. She occupies no other channel in his life.

"Quiet and staid is the British gentleman. He respects his wife in a stolid and matter-of-fact manner. She plays second fiddle, as it were, and does not come into her own.

"The dashing, exotic Frenchman makes a fine lover but a poor husband. He marries because it is customary, and then he diligently and automatically looks for a paramour.

"The sunny skies, the blue Mediterranean, the olive tint, lends a flavor of romance to wooing in Italy, but that is all there is to it. Men, there, have no background—they mean nothing, said in their wooing, after they have made a conquest.

"A woman in the United States, happily mated to an American boy, becomes a fifty-fifty partner in their little domestic enterprise, and as a rule is happy."

While in London, Miss Stanley said she danced with Prince George, youngest son of the British monarch and gave him a number of her phonograph records which he took along on his aerial trip.

In Paris she replenished her wardrobe, adding many beautiful gowns which she wears in her vaudeville skit.

AILEEN COMPLIMENTS AMERICAN MEN.

Aileen Stanley, "The Phonograph Girl," has just returned from Europe, where she sang for crowned heads and nobility and danced with Prince George. She was wooed by natives of many lands, but she says she believes the American man makes the perfect husband.

MEXICAN THUGS KILL AMERICAN ENGINEER

Mexico City, March 18.—Rex McIlpone, an American engineer, was killed and his partner, E. Heidenkamp was mortally wounded in a battle with bandits in the village of Ixthan, State of Nayarit on the night of March 14, according to advices reaching here today. Both were connected with an Utah company, which is working on a Southern Pacific building project in western Mexico.

ANNUAL DANCE OF B. U. CHI SIGMA CHI "FRAT"

The Chi Sigma Chi Fraternity, Boston University, will hold its sixth annual dance Friday evening, March 26, in Alden Park Manor, Longwood. J. Robert Akin, '27, of Newport, Vt., is in charge of arrangements. In the receiving line will be Mr. and Mrs. John C. Scannell, of Milton; Mr. and Mrs. Wentworth Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bubb, of Cambridge; and Mr. and Mrs. John Waters, of Wollaston.

NEW FACTS OUT IN MATTEOTTI MURDER TRIAL

Chieti, Italy, March 18 (A.P.).—Further testimony regarding the circumstances preceding the disappearance of the Socialist Deputy Matteotti in June, 1924, was brought out today at the trial of the five men accused of kidnaping and murdering the anti-Fascist leader.

Angelo Fazzi and Giovanni Divo, officers in the Caribenieri, testified that they saw Amerigo Dumini, one of the defendants, accompanied by two other persons, arrive in an automobile at the ministry of the interior shortly before midnight on June 10.

Michele Lantaffi, Chief of Police Termini and other witnesses described how Dumini was arrested on the orders of General Debono, head of the Fascist militia.

Gustago Labno, head of the staff of the Rome chief of police, said that on June 8 Dumini asked for permits to carry weapons for four persons, and flatfied his superiors that fact after the disappearance of Deputy Matteotti.

Hospital Expands

Portland, Me., March 18.—The residence of Dr. William H. Bradford, No. 704 State street, has been purchased for Queen's Hospital for $35,000.

COUPLE, DIVORCED TWO TIMES, WED AGAIN

Worcester, March 18.—Mr. and Mrs. David A. Deroches started on their second honeymoon today, after a series of marital mixups that had Clerk of Court Harry Y. Simpson utterly bewildered.

They had been married to each other in 1906, the marital cruise lasting but two months. Mrs. Deroches got a divorce in 1919 on the ground of desertion.

The same year she married Simon E. Coombs of Nashua, N. H. They lived together for eight years, but in 1924 she procured a divorce.

Meanwhile Deroches had dared a second matrimonial venture and lived with his wife four years when she deserted him and obtained a divorce.

BATHING GIRL O. K., THINKS MAYOR, AND KAHN AGREES

Bradley Beach, N. J., March 18.—The modern bathing girl's attire is beyond reproach, save by those who are narrow-minded, in the view of Mayor Borden, and so there will be no male censor on the beach.

New York, March 18.—Otto H. Kahn, banker and head of the Metropolitan Opera, approves what the girls of today wear. Feminine apparel was atrocious from the time of the French Revolution until five years ago, he thinks.

JOHN A. ALLEN FUNERAL TAKES PLACE SATURDAY

John E. Allen, who has conducted a stock brokerage business in Boston for nearly 30 years, died at Dr. A. F. Christian's Hospital on Marlboro street from a two months' illness at the age of 47 years. Funeral services will take place on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Church of the Holy Name (Episcopal), Swampscott, with interment in Swampscott cemetery.

PUTS WATER QUESTION UP TO MAYOR NICHOLS

Representative Roland D. Sawyer of Ware, member of the water supply committee, which is considering the proposed new source of water supply for the metropolitan district, called upon Mayor Nichols of Boston to take his stand in the controversy, particularly to oppose the plan of Davis B. Keniston, chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission.

BOY ADMITS HE IS 'TRIP THUG'

Bangor, Me., March 18.—Captain Kidd buried his booty, but 15-year-old Arthur Brooks of Brewer adopted no such easy method, and as a consequence must face charges for robbery of Mrs. Patrick Kelley, of No. 131 Third street, last Saturday No. 151 Third street, last Saturday.

Mrs. Kelley didn't believe in banks, and kept on her person about $1,100 and all the jewelry the family owned. As she was returning from a visit last Saturday night two boys approached her. One tripped her while the other seized the handbag containing the Kelley wealth.

Brooks, according to the police, confessed and implicated Andrew Gallagher of Bangor, naming Gallagher as the master-mind of the hold-up. Then Gallagher was arrested and also faces charges today.

Additional interest is added to the event by the fact that Franklin is his own wife's foster father, having adopted her in infancy, and therefore his son's foster-grandfather.

ASK MEXICO TO CATCH SLAYERS

Mexico City, March 18 (A.P.)—The Mexican government has received representations from the American Embassy, requesting the punishment of bandits who on Sunday last killed Rex McIlphone, American, and wounded another American, W. H. Heidenkamp, near the town of Ixtalan, in the vicinity of Mazatlan.

A request has been made by Consul Blocker, the American consul at Mazatlan, that the Governor of the state of Nayarit, dispatch troops in an effort to capture the band. McIlpone and Heidenkamp were employes of the Utah Construction Company.

The report of Consul Blocker here contained few details of the affair.

Unconfirmed reports say McIlpone and Heidenkamp were making an engineering inspection trip for the Southern Pacific and Utah Construction Company.

THE THEATRE

Here and There

Clive Comes Home
Another New Play
Beauty Approaches
Meet Miss America

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

HAVING performed glorious deeds for the drama of Broadway, E. E. Clive of the Copley Theatre is home again. Whereupon new life burst forth in the Back Bay region where Boston's most prolific actor-manager-producer sells artistic wares of attractive assortment. For several weeks Mr. Clive has been acting in "The Creaking Chair" in New York, taking an occasional hasty flight to Boston to see that the waters were kept smooth and clear at the Copley.

THE Clive season at the Copley has been especially fruitful in progress and novelty. "The Creaking Chair," a mystery comedy, had its first American presentation in the cosy Back Bay playhouse. It was an instantaneous hit and was eagerly sought by New York producers. Now that Mr. Clive has sent that merry comedy on its happy way in the nation's biggest town and has also started "The Sport of Kings" into big time rehearsals, he naturally feels that a little earnest attention to local interest may be in order.

E. E. Clive

Fay Lanphier

THE next fling into new fields at the Copley will be with Ian Hay's "False Pretenses." This is another comedy by the versatile Britisher and will have its first presentation on any stage at the Copley next Wednesday evening. Little is known about the play except that it is a rollicking comedy, done in Mr. Hay's best style. For the first performance, the distinguished author will lend his presence and respond with a speech—if called upon.

KNIGHTS HAVE A NIGHT—Boston Commandery of the Knights Templar is to have its own theatre party at the Repertory this evening. Following the performance of "Minick," a supper will be given in Repertory Hall, and to make the night spectacular the Commandery Escort will show how well it can drill.

BEAUTY ASCENDANT.

JOHN MURRAY ANDERSON'S eye for beauty is never dull. A few weeks ago he gave us all a glimpse of America's most beautiful woman, officially discovered at Atlantic City, when Fay Lanphier, the winner of last Summer's bristling contest, was featured at the Metropolitan with the beauty film, "The American Venus." At that time Miss Lanphier posed on the stage and watched her own film roll across the screen.

THAT Miss Lanphier was a fair sight for wistful eyes was plain to everybody, including John Murray Anderson, who immediately had visions of a tabloid revue with the lovely Miss America as its principal figure. Then was devised "Venus in Greenwich Village," now announced as the stage feature of next week's bill at the Metropolitan. According to the news from Jeff Lazarus' office, Miss Lanphier's appearance in this revue will do much to revive hope in the future of Greenwich Village.

TRANSPORTATION MEN HONOR ARNOLD LAWSON

Arnold Lawson of Egypt, Mass., who resigned as superintendent of lines East, New England Transportation Company, to become superintendent of all Massachusetts lines of the concern, was presented an eight-day mantel ship's clock by a group of about 40 Providence employes.

Mr. Lawson, who is the son of the late Thomas W. Lawson, financier, will be succeeded by H. M. Walker, who becomes superintendent of lines East after having been associated with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, of which the transportation company is a subsidiary.

Mr. Lawson took up his new duties yesterday with headquarters at Brockton.

CLINICS TREAT THOUSANDS OF FOOT CASES

Bare knees, rolled stockings and tight garters are responsible for the many cases of chilblains reported throughout the country, according to Dr. Joseph Lelyveld, pediatrist in charge of the Children's Foot Clinics of Boston at No. 415 Newbury street. Another foot ailment characterized as "jazz feet" is due to the strenuous exertions demanded in modern dances.

Scores of such cases have been treated at the free clinic for adults conducted by Dr. Lelyveld on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

The possibility of licensing shoe salesmen under a State Board of Registration has been discussed before the clinic staff by Dr. Lelyveld, who feels that proper fitting of shoes is as necessary to health as the correct prescribing of medicine.

More than 15,000 free cases were handled by the clinic during 1925 and an average of 150 children are treated on Wednesday afternoons.

Assisting Dr. Lelyveld are Drs. H. L. Hughes, Elizabeth G. McIntyre, H. A. Townsend, A. J. Hodges, F. E. Hayden, H. B. Donaldson, John Kelley and H. P. Kennison.

CRIMINAL DOCKET IS CLEAR IN MIDDLESEX

For the second time this year the Middlesex Criminal Court at East Cambridge, reports that all trial cases had been disposed of.

In so instructing the jury Judge George A. Flynn said the list was entirely clear, with the exception of the indictments pending against the 11 city officials of Lowell.

He then complimented District Attorney Arthur K. Reading on the efficient work of his staff.

BILL TO CURB "LEAKS" ON BUSINESS SECRETS

Albany, N. Y., March 18.—A bill placing a curb upon "leaks" from employes regarding the transactions of the enterprises with which they are identified, by making information as to records or other data given by such employes, a misdemeanor, was introduced in the Legislature by Senator Sheridan, a New York Democrat.

FEDERAL DRY AGENT FREED OF CONSPIRACY

Scranton, Pa., March 18.—William R. Harris, Federal prohibition agent, and James (Butler) Flynn, local constable, were acquitted on charges of conspiracy and accepting a bribe.

DR. ROBERTS SELECTED FOR BACCALAUREATE

The baccalaureate sermon for the class of 1926 at Wellesley College will be given by Dr. Richard Roberts of the American Presbyterian Church, Montreal, in the chapel on June 20. Dr. Chauncey Tinker of Yale will give the commencement address on June 22.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Many Bostonians Returning From and Starting for Foreign Shores

OUTWARD BOUND AND HOMEWARD bound, Boston society is on the wing either returning hither from foreign jaunts or just departing for one or another sun-bathed shore where life is carefree and joyous. The steamship France sailing from French ports brings Mrs. Charles A. Welch, 2d, and Mrs. Thomas P. Mandell.

MISS DOROTHY S. F. M. CODMAN, who went over not so very long ago to join her brother, Thomas Newbold Codman, is a passenger on the France, which soon turns her prow westward. The Edwin A. Boardmans or Boston and Marblehead are coming in Sunday on the Caronia.

THE TWO DAUGHTERS, Miss Elvira and Miss Isabel Boardman, with Mrs. Boardman, went over early in the Winter for a journey about foreign parts, and Mr. Boardman joined them later for the return home. Belonging to a family famous in Massachusetts yachting annals, Mr. Boardman is preparing for a lively season afloat under Eastern Yacht colors.

BERMUDA IS THE SPRING objective of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jefferson Coolidge, Miss Emily Coolidge, their charming debutante daughter, and her sister bud, Miss Elizabeth Bartlett. Miss Bartlett is the Edwin B. Bartletts' daughter and with Miss Coolidge has just flitted through a first Winter belleship.

THE COOLIDGE PARTY puts up at the Inverurie, in Bermuda, and sails from New York on Saturday. Mrs. Timothee Adamowski is another prominent Bostonian setting sail for the Summer Isles and a visit there just when the famous Bermuda lily is coming into its glory of late Winter blooming.

MRS. ADAMOWSKI is to be house guest of her sister and brother-in-law, the Barklie McKee Henrys, who have a charming Bermudian villa of white limestone set coolly in luxurious gardens lapped by the glinting blue ocean. Mr. Adamowski joins Mrs. Adamowski later and they came back to Boston after Easter.

BERMUDA'S SEMI-TROPICAL charms also lure the John H. Rosses of Jamaica Plain and "Rosshohm," in Hingham. Mr. and Mrs. Ross are sailing away to be gone until late in April.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES H. WOODBURY and Mrs. Mary P. Woodbury of the Riverway are doing one of those leisurely West Indian cruises, drifting about the Caribbean and making port almost as fancy dictates.

AND CONTINUING the travelogue, Dr. John E. McCurtin and Mrs. McCurtin are aboard the Adriatic, which is sailing about the Mediterranean and touching at fascinating ports on both European and African shores.

WORD DRIFTS OVER from New York of a Useless Club dance which takes in the Boston contingent down to Long Island in early April, there to don the motley and dance in to the small hours as guests of those genial hosts, Mr. and Mrs. James Cummings Barr.

USELESS CLUB AFFAIRS are always of the jolliest, with a smart Boston clique joining a similarly ultra Gotham set and both Boston and Gotham figuring as the locale. The Useless Club mid-winter ball climaxed a like function held earlier in Boston, and now the season is to wind up with a costume dance having inviting al fresco features.

WHISPERS OF A brilliant Russian entertainment with Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Toumanov as hosts arranged for next Tuesday evening gives large promise of an unusual evening. Mr. and Mrs. Toumanov belong to that cultivated and brilliant Russian colony now making Boston its headquarters.

THE "RUSSIANS" fairly electrified their guests last Winter at their Cabaret Supper-dance, putting on a gorgeously costume Muscovite brand of program and supper such as Boston rarely if ever had seen. And with the Toumanovs as hosts for the coming function, anticipation runs high for a second evening of rare enjoyment.

MRS. CLARK WHITING of Hingham was dinner hostess for nearly a half-hundred guests before the St. Patrick's Supper Dance at which the South Shore's resident set made merry. Evidences of the Patron Saint of Erin and his brilliant Shamrock green were everywhere in decorations, enhancing the striking gowns of women guests.

THE EDWARD PRUDENS entertained at dinner before the dance, their guests numbering ten and Mrs. Nathaniel F. Emmons instigator of these gay affairs was hostess at her lovely old Colonial residence for twenty-five. Aside from the frivolous round, Mrs. Emmons is, by the way, bestirring herself in the political field.

A LARGE TEA, for which she is hostess on March 23, is truly political in flavor and will bring together the South Shore cohorts under her hospitable roof with Mrs. Curtis Guild presiding behind the tea urn. The political venture is only one of the many interests which Mrs. Emmons vitalizes as only she can.

THAT VALIANT SET which does so much for the Children's Hospital and its great good works announces graduating exercises of the school of nursing to be held on March 25 and are calling their friends and hospital supporters to attend both the exercises and a reception following.

IT IS ALSO announced that Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames takes a leading place in the welfare committee, stepping into the position so ably held by Mrs. Frederick S. Mead. Mesdames Richard S. Russell, Richard P. Strong, H. Parker Whittington, John G. Palfrey and B. Loring Young also rank high as leaders in the welfare work.

MRS. WHEATON BYERS, just back from three months or more of travel which included California and Cuba in its wide swing, is stepping into high directorial place with that most worthy organization, the Girl Scouts. Miss Alice Thorndike is likewise importantly placed in the organization.

OTHERS LEADING the destinies (locally) of the scouts are Miss Marion Decrow, Mrs. Robert Bellknap and Mrs. Robert Boyd. The Girl Scouts shop in Newbury street is ever a busy rendezvous, and is just about completing its first year most successfully.

MRS. F. LOTHROP AMES is the new head of the welfare committee for the Children's Hospital, a post which she is excellently fitted to fill most successfully.

2,500 CHILDREN IN SYMPHONY

By MOSES SMITH.

Twenty-five hundred voices of young children singing the "Star Spangled Banner," to the accompaniment of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, made an interesting thing to listen to and watch. The occasion was a Young People's Concert at Symphony Hall, the National Anthem being sung at the close, in honor of Evacuation Day.

Michael Press, who has now become a familiar figure at Symphony concerts, conducted the program, which is being repeated this afternoon. Today's concert will make the seventh this year at which he has been leader.

Wagner's Overture to "The Flying Dutchman" opened the concert, followed by the Minuet and Rinale from Mozart's great Symphony in E-flat. In the Prelude to "The Deluge" of Saint-Saens, Mr. Theodorowicz, who was taking Mr. Burgin's place at the concert-master's desk, played the solo-violin.

The last number was Liszt's Fourteenth Hungarian Rhapsody. Mr. Press conducted with a good deal of brilliance.

HURL 'BOMB' AT IRISH DINNER TO WALES

London Police Probe Missile-Throwing During St. Patrick's Celebration

London, March 18 (A.P.)—There was mystery today as to the "bombing" of two St. Patrick's Day dinners, one attended by the Prince of Wales and the other by Premier Stanley Baldwin.

The Prince of Wales is declared not to have been aware that a missile containing moistened calcium carbide was thrown into the lobby of the restaurant where he was dining with members of the Irish Club.

At the Hotel Cecil, however, where Premier Baldwin spoke, a man in the balcony hurled a piece of fireworks among the diners. It struck a woman newspaper reporter on the shoulder and dropped to the floor pouring out smoke and igniting the carpet.

There was no explosion, but, falling among the guests, many of them wearing light dresses, the presence of mind of some guests alone averted fire and panic. A rush for the doors was checked by a shout from some man, "Stay where you are," and the fire was quickly extinguished.

One version is that the missile was a small tube that emitted an acetylene flame. An Irish priest pointed out the miscreant, who was turned over to the police.

MEDFORD BRIDGE FUND PETITION IS REJECTED

The petition of Mayor Richard B. Coolidge of Medford asking that the city be authorized to incur indebtedness for the construction of a bridge over the Mystic River at Winthrop street today received an unfavorable report from the legislative committee on municipal finance.

Ex-Wife Protests Word 'Alimony' on Checks

Washington, March 18.—By the same token that pigs is pigs, alimony is alimony, in the opinion of Dr. Mark C. Davis, a dentist of this city.

Therefore, when he sends his former wife a check for $200 each month, he writes the word "alimony" across it in flaming red, according to a petition filed by Mrs. Davis in Equity Court here today.

Mrs. Davis asks that he be restrained from this practice, which is "embarrassing" to her, she complains.

CHALIAPIN ANNOUNCES VARIED PROGRAM

Breaking his hitherto unvarying precedent, Feodor Chaliapin, the great dramatic singer, has announced part of the program he will offer at Symphony Hall tonight. Never before has an audience at a Chaliapin recital known what the Russian was going to sing until he appeared on the platform and told them by word of mouth.

But it is announced that at tonight's concert he will be heard in arias from "Don Carlos," "Faust," "The Barber of Seville" (his greatest humorous operatic vehicle), and "Don Quixote," the Massenet work in which he will sing for the first time April 3 with the Metropolitan Opera.

Chaliapin has not been heard before in Boston this season, and he will not visit here again for two years.

VOICING THE GREAT DEMOCRACY OF THE AIR

SAMUEL CURTIS, JR., Radio Editor

The Lissell Entertainers are presenting another of their popular programs tonight through WNAC. Coming on the air at 8:00 o'clock they will offer soprano solos, pianologues and 'cello selections.

ENGINEERS OF RCA STUDY AURORA

The most marked affect of the Aurora Borealis was recently noted in the operation of the RCA wire lines, of which there are some 6,000 miles out of New York City, passing through the States of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia. The land lines are used to connect the various transoceanic and marine transmitting and receiving stations with the traffic offices, as well as to hook up the broadcasting stations of the RCA group. Considerable ground currents were noted on the wire lines, but the system at no time was in danger of interruption. The short wave radio link between the Belfast station and the New York traffic office performed flawlessly all through the display.

REDUCED SPEED AT FIRST.

"For two days the Aurora Borealis held sway, with its far-reaching electrical and magnetic effects, and first, the transoceanic radio signaling speed was reduced, but as the operators became more familiar with the altered state of the atmosphere, the radio circuits were brought up by easy stages to a speed of 30 to 50 words per minute. Conditions seemed to improve as the affect continued, once the operators made allowance for the unusual state of the ether.

It is the belief of the RCA engineers that the Aurora Borealis does not interfere seriously with radio waves nor the handling of radio traffic. If anything, it improves conditions to some extent by eliminating the characteristic radio background, although the signals themselves likewise lose their customary sparkle or brilliancy. The Aurora is deemed to have a marked alleviating affect on radio communication, the very strangeness of which causes a slight increase in tenseness at first until the operators have accustomed themselves to a "silent" atmosphere.

GIGANTIC DISCHARGE.

Speculating on the probable nature of the Aurora Borealis these experts say that it seems reasonable to assume this phenomenon is due to a gigantic electrical discharge of the accumulated electricity in the atmosphere. This is accompanied by a vivid display, for those within view of the Northern Lights," and by far reaching electrical and magnetic affects. The normal atmospheric disturbances or static, generally present to a greater or less degree, are momentarily dissipated by the powerful Aurora Borealis discharge, thus producing an electrically clear atmosphere for the passage of radio waves.

The Super-Heterodyne

The average super-heterodyne has seven or eight tubes consisting of an oscillator, mixer or first detector, two or three stages of intermediate frequency, second detector and one or two stages of audio.

Navy Reports on Code Test

Reports from Lieutenant-Commander MacGowan of the Charlestown Navy Yard on the code tests conducted last Monday night show that out of the first 884 letters received 769 reported no interference from either the Navy Yard or WBF.

Out of the 115 who reported "code," it appears that a large majority heard "fast" code, and not slow transmission from either of the local stations.

Officials at the Navy Yard are very thankful to those who commented on the test, and have promised a complete report in a day or so.

Soldering

Wiring connections in a radio receiver should be soldered to insure a perfect electrical joint. This is particularly true in circuits carrying radio frequency currents. Soldering also serves as a means of making a permanent connection and preventing loose joints which cause noises and loss of signals.

Battery Wires

Battery wires should be of the flexible rubber-covered variety, with an auxiliary sheath of decorative colored cotton. Ordinary flexible lamp cord is excellent for the purpose, as its insulation is capable of withstanding voltages higher than those applied to radio receivers.

Chief at WSSH

Mr. R. B. Meader, better known to the fans as "RBM," has full charge of the transmitting equipment at Tremont Temple station WSSH. Meader has developed his station to maximum efficiency, and great distances have been covered with the 100 watts of power.

SYMPHONY OVER WBZ TONIGHT

One of the most sought after features on the air tonight will be the program of the Springfield Symphony orchestra with Irma Seydel, noted violinist who has appeared as soloist with the Boston Symphony, New York Philharmonic, and Leipsic Symphony orchestras, broadcast through WBZ at 9 o'clock. The program will be sent out from the Springfield municipal auditorium with Arthur H. Turner conducting.

Although the Springfield Symphony is well known in the western part of the State, tonight's program marks their initial radio concert. Included in Miss Seydel's program tonight is the Andante movement from the Concerto in G Minor by Bruch. The concert will be opened with the popular Weber overture "Oberon" by the orchestra. They will also play the symphonic poems from Le Rouet d'Omphole composed by Saint-Saens.

Leo Reisman with his concert orchestra group themselves around the WBZ microphone and at this evening at 8 o'clock to present their regular weekly program. Not only has the orchestra arranged to give listeners a real musical treat, but Mme. Maude Erickson, Swedish dramatic soprano, will assist the musicians with a well balanced and carefully chosen group of selections.

DX Conditions Last Night

By "THE DOCTOR"

Distant reception was possible last night for the first time in many weeks. The best portion of the evening appeared to be between 7:30 and 9 o'clock.

Many old favorites such as WTAM, WRNY, WMAK, KDKA and WWJ came through with oldtime vigor. It was a great satisfaction to hear them snap in one after the other.

Let us hope the good "air" will stay with us.

RADIO QUERIES

Q.—L. G. M., Melrose Highlands. I am using a five-tube set which is homemade. Am using General Radio number 285 audio transformers, and pickledottle coils. All condensers are of the straight line low loss type, and the sockets are supported. My sets works OK only for one thing. When I plug in my earphones the loudspeaker starts to howl. When earphones are not plugged in the set works beautifully. Can you explain this?

A.—The frequently occurs. It is caused by suddenly removing the load from the audio amplifier. When some audio amplifiers are operated with their input terminals disconnected, they will emit a high pitched singing note. This may be eliminated in most cases by shunting a .002 condenser across the first transformer primary.

Q. P. D. J. Chelsea. Have been reading up on various four-tube circuits, and have about decided to build one. The only thing I am undecided on, is the best method to get regeneration in the detector tube. I wish to construct the circuit so it will constitute one stage of tuned r.f., a regenerative detector, and two stages of transformer coupled audio. What would you suggest for a regenerative control.

A. For practical purposes I would recommend either the Browning Drake or the Universal idea of a series plate resistance. The B-D uses a variable tickler while Universal uses a fixed tickler. Either is good.

Testing New Circuit

Place some sort of a protective device in series with the negative lead of the "B" battery when testing a new circuit. If a short circuit exists between the filament and high potential "B" battery the protective device will give warning and protect the tubes.

TOURISTS SEE TRIBAL DANCE

Members of the Great African cruise enjoyed the unusual experience of seeing a Zulu war dance while their ship, the S. S. Orca, was in port at Lourenco Marques, port in Portuguese East Africa. Several hundred warriors in full regalia took part in the dance to the time of the African drums, according to a cable message received from the Orca today by the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, which is conducting the cruise in co-operation with the American Express Company.

This native exhibition was at the head of Chief Shipps, one of the powerful East African chieftains. The tourists returned to their ship with numerous native trophies, including lion and leopard skins and several lion cubs.

The Orca arrived at Lourenco Marques on March 14 after an especially hearty sendoff at Durban. The cruise is due to return to New York April 29 after completing its tour up the East African coast and through the Mediterranean.

MISSOURI PACIFIC INDUSTRIAL SERVICE

The Industrial Development Department of the Missouri Pacific and allied lines have prepared industrial surveys showing population, transportation facilities available raw materials, power, fuel and water supplies and rates on same, labor supply and housing conditions, tax rates, school and church facilities, highway development and available sites for industries along the lines of the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

These experts are prepared to co-operate with all persons interested in industrial development.

Last year this department reported 103 new industries established along their lines with aggregate capital investments of $41,624,000.

UNITED FRUIT TOURS PROVING POPULAR

The popularity of the United Fruit Company's all-expense tours is evidenced by the fact that the 1926 Rip an Tours will sail on the steamer leaving New York Saturday, will have a full sailing list.

This is unusual, for it was expected the demand for accommodations would be less than for mid-season sailings.

The many years of constructive building and foresight accounts for the United Tourist Company's success in the handling of tourists to the tropics.

BOBBY SHAFTOE'S TRIPS AND TRAVEL TIPS

$19.00—New York and return, including nearly every necessary expense.

For further complete information, with regard to this trip, address Boston Evening American Hotel and Travel Bureau, No. 3 Winthrop square, Boston.

NEW INN WINS BOSTON

Rainbow Gardens at Walpole, on the way to Providence, and but forty-five minutes from Boston is the newest, and one of the largest and most attractive inns convenient to Boston.

The Gardens, built under the personal supervision of Mr. Pisapo, well known hotel man and restaurateur, were designed to provide patrons with every comfort and convenience.

The Manhattan Orchestra, presenting the latest popular dance music, consists of a quintet of musicians brought to Rainbow Gardens from New York.

The unusual lighting system, providing an ever changing lighting throughout the evening, reminding one of a rainbow, accounts for the name given this attractive new inn.

HALIFAX, ST. JOHN'S SERVICE ON MAY 22

The Boston to Halifax, N. S., and St. John's, Nfld., service of Furness, Withy & Company, Ltd., will be resumed when the S. S. Newfoundland sails from Boston, May 22.

Fortunate indeed are the summer vacationists, whose vacations come at a time which permits taking advantage of this water trip to Halifax or the longer one to St. John's. For a restful, quiet, yet entertaining and instructive vacation this has become most popular.

COLONIAL LINE OPENS SPRING TOURS APRIL 2

Beginning Friday, April 2, and each Friday thereafter including May 21, the Colonial Line will operate its annual Spring tours to New York.

These economical, worthwhile tours, include transportation, stateroom accommodations and meals going and returning. Also hotel accommodations, sight seeing and theatre in New York, but not your meals in New York, offer the traveling public a wonderful opportunity to spend the week-end in New York at very reasonable expense.

EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS BOOKLET AVAILABLE

Chicago plans a great celebration for those attending the 28th International Eucharistic Congress June 20 to 24, which promises to be the greatest religious triumph the world has ever witnessed.

RISKED LIFE TO SAVE 2 GAS VICTIMS

Evidence Proves Fireman Walter Deserves Boston Evening American Medal

That Fireman Frank H. Walter of Reserve Company No. 1, who is to receive the Boston Evening American Diamond Medal of Valor in Faneuil Hall next Monday evening, risked his life in his hands when he performed the heroic act for which he is to be decorated, is proven by evidence.

Before he descended 50 feet into the hold of the gasoline tank ship, Phoenix, at Long Pier, near the Dewsnap, following an explosion, in an effort to rescue two men, later found dead, several men had declined to take the chance which he did.

The chief of the Quincy fire department, it is said, refused to permit any of his men, who were present, to go into the hold of the tanker after the explosion, on the ground that it was too dangerous for them as they were not experienced in the use of gas masks. The same attitude is said to have been taken by officials of the company where the vessel was bringing.

Despite this alleged a fuss on the part of the Quincy fire chief and the gasoline company officials, Fireman Walter assumed the task without too much of an effort although he had never worn the special type gas mask which it was deemed advisable to use in attempting the rescue.

Fireman Walter remained in the hold of the vessel 30 minutes and although both men he tried to save were dead when he descended his risk remained the same. He proved one of the bodies. The other was discovered in eight feet of gasoline. During the course of his attempted rescue his watch was severely burned by fumes from the gasoline which penetrated the mask.

Hundreds of Walter's friends are planning to attend next Monday evening's exercises in Faneuil Hall when the Boston Evening American Diamond Medal of Valor will be presented to Lieut. Mayor Nichols in the presence of many notables.

Arrangements have also been made to have Walter's wife and two minute daughters and Lieut. Long's widow, twelve-year-old Cecilia, Capt. Coyle and Mrs. Katherine Harris Gormly, contralto. This musical entertainment will be well worth going many miles to hear. All seats will be free and none will be reserved. Those who arrive first may take their pick.

Spring Fishing

Get out that fishing tackle, rod and line, look it over to make sure, prepare to start with the fever strikes—and there is no better place to go than Maine. Let the Boston Evening American Hotel & Travel Bureau, No. 3 Winthrop square, send you several books offering suggestions as to where to go in Maine.

SAYS BALMWORT IS QUICK--SURE

The following is typical of thousands who have expressed extreme satisfaction at the quick, mild, balmy action of Balmwort tablets: "I was troubled with my kidneys and bladder so bad I could only work a few hours a day. At night was up and down 3 to 4 times, and in the morning could hardly bend over to dress myself. I took one box of Balmwort tablets and never have been troubled since. Also have recommended to others and they have found relief, etc."

Leading druggists everywhere.

BALMWORT

Joy Bringer

Constance Doe, '27, Columbus, O., is chairman of the Annual Year Book dance, to take place at Radcliffe College reception room Friday night. She promises lots of joy and surprises to the revellers. Stags are barred from this dance.

'STAGS' BARRED AT RADCLIFFE

Stags are barred from the Annual Year Book dance of Radcliffe College.

A decree to this effect was issued by the dean and when the tickets go on sale at the college reception room Friday night every girl must have a "date."

The order is an innovation. The Year Book dance is one of the most important social festivities of the college season. The order was issued so as to avoid the confusion that attends having a plethora of "stags" or unattached guests.

Constance Doe '27, Columbus, Ohio, is chairman, and Fordham Webster, '26, of Lexington, Katherine Henry, '26, of Lincoln, N. H., Elizabeth Barrett, '26, of Cambridge, and Juanita Sclieble, '26, of Chicago, Ill., are members of the committee. Patronesses of the dance are: Mrs. Brown, President Comstock, Mrs. Holcombe, Mrs. Frederick H. Hill, of Brookline, and Mrs. Henry Stevens, of Cambridge.

SENATE SPURNS McCAMANT

Washington, March 1—The senate in executive session rejected the nomination of Wallace McCamant of Oregon as a United States circuit judge in the Ninth Federal Court on the Pacific Northwest.

The nomination, fought by Senator Johnson, (R), of California, had been previously disapproved by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

McCamant's principal claim to fame is that he was responsible for bringing about the nomination of Calvin Coolidge then Governor of Massachusetts, for Vice President on the Harding ticket.

FOR Acid Stomach

PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

TRY A 25c BOTTLE

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty-cent bottles. Any druggist.

OPEN ANNUAL RETREAT ON SUNDAY

By JAMES WALSH.

The fifty-first annual retreat of the Young Men's Catholic Association will open in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Harrison avenue and East Concord street, next Sunday evening. All men from all over Greater Boston make this retreat each year. In the other churches and in Associates Chapel, lower church will be used. The services will be brought to a close on Palm Sunday, morning, March 28, with a special mass at 7.30 a. m.

Two of the best speakers in the Jesuit Order will preach the sermons—the Rev. James F. Mellyn, S. J., of Boston College in the upper church and the Rev. John D. Rutter, S. J., in St. Aloysius Chapel. The name of the street, which always has been a feature in the upper church, will be in charge of Thomas J. Gargan, N. J. Hurley, director of the club; Lawrence B. O'Connor, head organist, will preside at the organ in the upper church. The music in the lower church will be by the Young Men's Sodality choir, with assisting soloists.

Rev. James F. Mellyn, S. J.

Following the retreat mass which will close the mission a communion breakfast will be served in the gymnasium of the Boston College High School, Tunnel street, South End. Among the speakers who will address the assemblage after the breakfast are Fathers Mellyn and Butler, the Rev. James T. McCormick, S. J., rector of the church and reverend president of the association, and the Rev. James L. McGovern, S. J., reverend treasurer of the association.

Court John J. Williams, No. 326, Catholic Daughters of America, will hold a penny sale in Knights of Columbus Bungalow, Murray Hill road, Woodlands, on Tuesday evening, March 23, at 8 o'clock. It will be open to the public. The affair is in charge of the following committee: Mrs. Elizabeth Tobin, chairman; Miss Marion Grimmons, Miss Marguerite V. Pierce, Mrs. Margaret Adams, Mrs. Mary W. Murphy, Mrs. Margaret Flynn, Mrs. Mary V. Smith, Mrs. Annie J. Dunn, Miss M. Lillian Hennessy, Mrs. James T. O'Brien and Mrs. William F. Jackson, grand regent.

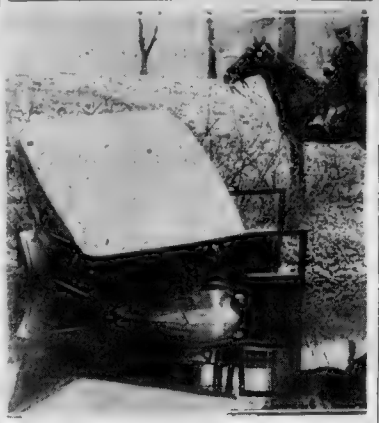
Members of the Dorchester Catholic Guild will have an open meeting on Thursday, March 25. The guests will be welcomed by Mrs. Thomas Keane, president of the guild, and Mrs. Katherine Mulhall, social chairman. The Rev. Howard C. McKenzie of St. Clement's Church, Somerville, will be the speaker. Miss Marion Mulhall will sing a group of songs, accompanied by G. S. McAuliffe.

Devotion of the Forty Hours will open in the following churches of the archdiocese with a mass of exposition tomorrow morning: St. Mary of the Angels, Roxbury; Corpus Christi, Auburndale and St. James, Haverhill. Beginning on Sunday, March 21, at St. Peter's (Lithuanian), South Boston. The devotion will be brought to a close in each of the three first-named churches with a solemn mass on Sunday morning.

The Rev. James L. McGovern, S. J., prefect of studies at Boston College High School, will deliver his final lecture in the series of lantern talks on "The Details of Catholic Worship in the school hall tonight. The lecture will be illustrated. The subject is "Rome, the Holy See."

The Rev. Richard Blackburn of Washington of Hot Springs, Va., will be the guest of and will speak at the Catholic Union of Boston, corner of Washington street and Worcester square, South End, tomorrow night. Father Washington is a collateral descendant of George Washington. The lecture will be accompanied by an excellent musical program by Dr. George Dwyer.

'GUILTY FLEE WHEN NO MAN PURSUETH'



The guilty flee when no man pursueth, Mounted Officer John J. Grainger commented while investigating the dive of this automobile into the Muddy River in the Fenway. The machine was stolen in the North End. It is theorized that the thieves, hearing a car behind them, believed they were being pursued. After suddenly swerving off the road, they ditched the car and fled.

Bible Still "Best Seller" of All U. S. Books

Chicago, March 18 (A.P.)—The Bible is still the "best seller," according to the annual report of the American Bible Society, an interdenominational organization.

Last year's issue in 150 languages was 9,060,120 volumes, nearly 2,500,000 more than the preceding year, and the greatest number in any of the 110 years of existence of the Bible society.

GENERAL BRUSSILOFF, dead yesterday, led Russia's successful drive against Austria, capturing 300,000 Austrians in one week.

The United States got much excited about that glorious victory and lent fifty million dollars to Russia. One year later Brussiloff was helping others to force the Czar off the throne, and our Russian bonds were worth so much a pound as waste paper. So it goes, in war, especially with our kind of statesmen.

GIUSEPPE BOGGIANO was happy when he earned small wages as a day laborer in New York, forty years ago. Now, owner of millions, he has hanged himself in the park of his chateau on Lake Como. His last message was, "I have discovered that money does not give happiness."

That may comfort the poor, but, unfortunately, poverty does not give happiness, either. What does give happiness is mental activity of a useful kind. Money can't interfere with that, but poverty can.

TWO LEARNED TURKISH scholars, Mehmed Akkit, and the Mohammedan priest, Kutchuk Hamdi, will translate the Koran from the original Arabic into everyday Turkish, enabling everyday Turks to read the sacred book. Whether that will strengthen the hold of Mohammed on the public mind is a question. Mystery helps religion.

TO TELL a modern Turk how Mohammed rode up to heaven on his white horse, saw angels with seven many miles apart, etc., may strike the modern Turk as improbable—that is, if the modern Turk is permitted to think for himself on such subjects.

WOMEN CAPTAINS NAMED IN Y. W. C. A. CAMPAIGN

Captains of the women workers' teams in the $1,500,000 drive for a new Boston Y. W. C. A. building were named at the first meeting of the campaign organization at the Chamber of Commerce Building.

They are Miss Evelyn Coolidge of Lever Brothers, representing industrial women and girls; Mrs. Ruth Haskell of the State Street Trust Company, banks; women; Miss Martha Newton of the post office, women in the postal service; Miss Elizabeth Hubbard for Store House women employees; Miss Cora Butler of Stowell's, representing the Blue Triangle Business Girls' Clubs, and Mrs. Caroline P. Stickle, director of women's personnel at the First National Bank and chairman of the business women's campaign division, presided.

The Love Story of a Boston Girl Who Wants Only One Man---and the Husband Who Strayed

"Phelps, you're just a plain fool, aren't you?" Peter asked in reply to Ranny's inquiry on the bouquet

READ THIS FIRST:

SYLVIA STARR, employed in the Boston Public Library, has been engaged to RANDALL PHELPS, Boston real estate man, for nearly a year when he asks her to break their engagement. He frankly tells her that he's in love with her best friend, FAY SHIRLEY, a Beacon Hill flirt.

Broken-hearted, Sylvia gives him up, much to the satisfaction of her AUNT AGNES ("Aunt Agony"), the shrewd spinster who reared her. She encourages Sylvia to marry PETER WILK, a sober-minded bachelor, of a good Boston family, who's in love with her.

As the time draws near for the marriage of Fay and Ranny, Fay tells Sylvia that they have decided that they don't really care enough for each other to go through life together. And Sylvia discovers that Fay is still owing a great deal of her old beau, EDDIE CARTER, a State street wholesale merchant.

On a moonlit May night Peter gives a picnic by a lake in Concord in Sylvia's honor. The young guests play hide-and-seek like children, in the dark woods, and Sylvia finds herself paired off with Ranny. He tells her that, after all, she's the only girl in the world for him. Afraid that she may lose him again if she doesn't take him now, Sylvia suggests that they run away that very night and get married. And they do!

Before many months are past, Sylvia finds that her dream of wedded life is very different from Ranny's. His real life is still spent with Eddie Carter's crowd of poker players. He loses heavily and Sylvia keeps house on next to nothing, doing all her own work. And he sees rather too much of Fay.

The day after Sylvia tells Ranny that they're going to have a baby in a few months, she finds Fay Shirley's handkerchief and a carved hairpin of hers in Ranny's car, and takes it to her.

Sylvia returns the handkerchief and pin to Fay and a few days later Fay comes to see her. Sylvia, realizing that she has really come to see Ranny, decides to tell her that they are to have a baby in the spring. Fay leaves, refusing Sylvia's invitation to stay to dinner.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XX.

Copyright, 1926, Johnson Features Inc

The night before Hallowe'en Sylvia was sitting alone in The West reading, when Fay dropped in on her way home from a call in Brookline.

"I saw a light up here as I drove past, and I thought I'd come up to say 'Hello,'" she announced darkly, as she dropped into a chair and stretched her long legs straight before her. "I feel so low that I could stand up under the sidewalk. Really I do."

She threw a look around the flat. "Where's your wondering boy tonight?" she asked.

"He's gone over to his mother's house to play bridge," Sylvia answered. "He wanted me to go over, too, but I was dog-tired and decided not to budge out of the house."

Fay's green eyes stared at her. She was not listening.

"Let me ask you something, Sylvia," she said sharply, after a pause. "Am I beginning to look like an old hag or what?"

Sylvia burst out laughing. "You? At twenty-three? You must be crazy!" she cried. "Why, of course you don't look old! What make you think you do?"

"Two things," Fay answered grimly. "All Eddie calls me up this afternoon to ask me if he can take Sally March's young sister to a dance tonight! It seems that kid has no regular beau of her own and she wanted to borrow Eddie. I told him to go ahead. I really wasn't curious, because the kid is a dumb-

CRIMSON AND LAMPOON CLANS BATTLE

Doctors Hit by Prescription Liquor Drive

HUNDREDS OF ARRESTS DUE SOON

New York War on "Prescription Bootlegging" Stirs Up the M. D.'s

New York, March 18 (I N S).—From 100 to 500 doctors and druggists face arrest, it was announced today, in United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner's drive against "prescription bootlegging."

Thirty-seven already have been ordered arrested.

Two doctors and druggists and two laundry agents, charged with violating the Volstead Act by falsifying liquor prescriptions, or violating the conditions under which liquor selling permits were issued, have been assigned in Federal Court and released on bail. Others against whom warrants have been issued are expected to appear today.

Grand Jury indictments are looked for shortly. The offence charged involves loss of citizenship, a possible two year sentence and $10,000 fine.

Buckner charged that prescriptions for medicinal liquor had been sold by doctors wholesale to agents who turned them over to druggists to cover diversion of liquor into bootleg channels.

The drive against what Buckner calls the new class of "higher-up" bootleggers has stirred the medical profession of the city. Some of the physicians who appeared in court protesting their innocence are of high standing.

Bill to Oust 2,500 N. Y. Quacks Due to Pass

Albany, N. Y., March 18 (I N S).—Passage of the Loomis bill designed to drive 2,000 quack doctors out of the State, was predicted at the Capitol today.

The measure provides for drastic amendments to the State Medical practice act requiring all doctors to register on each year with the State education department.

Chiropractors are strongly opposed to the Loomis bill. They claim it would bar them from practicing in the State.

Both the Loomis bill and the Esmond bill which would license chiropractors have been favorably reported by the Assembly committees on Public Health. The two, the fight between the doctors and the chiropractors will be carried to the floor of the lower house.

Population Will Show an Increase of 11,423,197 Since 1920 Count

Washington, March 18 (AP).—The population of continental United States will be 117,185,817 next July 1, the Census Bureau estimated today, the figure being an increase of 11,423,197 since the last Federal enumeration in 1920.

Since last July 1 the bureau acquired a gain of 1,747,723. The estimate was based in actual census counts in eight States and sample data concerning births, deaths, immigration and emigration since 1920.

Using as a scale the distribution of population increase between 1910 and 1920, the bureau has estimated the population of each State, substituting State census figures where State counts were made last year, and omitting calculations for States which recorded decreases between 1910 and 1920.

NEW YORK IN LEAD.

States which counted population last year were Florida, Texas, Rhode Island and Massachusetts. New York, North Dakota, Rhode Island and South Dakota.

The bureau has not yet tabulated the population of the large cities but will. Population estimates and actual counts by States, showed New York and Pennsylvania retaining their rank of first and second respectively, follow

COMPENSATION—AGAIN

MAY I write one more word on compensation?

The other day I had a fall—a nasty fall on the stairs. The heel came off my shoe and down I came with a merciless crash.

I was holding by the hand my little grandson. We were talking and laughing together, and although "Grandpa" may have rather stormy, impetuous, not-at-all grandmother ways of running downstairs, this time it ended badly—with smash.

For a moment my head went dizzy, for I was, I must tell you, a very hard striker. And I had acute pains all down one side. But I did not want to frighten the little Michael, so I ignored the hurts and went on joking and laughing the more.

Two days later I took an energetic horseback ride. But the horrible bruise I had given myself refused to be snubbed, and the ill used leg would not be treated so lightly even to make Mikey laugh. So I had to lay up like a ship for repairs.

There was a good deal of pain and many things I wanted to do were stopped, especially my riding. The horses were in first rate condition, the fields were reaped, the weather delicious and one might have gallopped unhindered and afar. But now I had to "lay up." Ugh, how I hated it! I dreadfully felt like saying, "Oh, d—n," but I did not. I refrained.

You could not have called it a smile, unless a smile that was on the wrong side of the mouth.

But now comes the compensation: I was writing a story, a long story called "Crowned Queens," which interested me mightily, but I had never sufficient time to finish it.

Well, my suffering leg did that for me! For there was I confined to my couch, very disgusted at first but yesterday with a joyful flourish I wrote "FINIS" under my "Crowned Queens," and if I had not had that crash, they would still be waiting.

It may be trite, but it is surely true, that we may trust in the law of compensation as completely as we do in other natural laws, gravitation, say. Just open eyes and mind and you will see it so.

1 DEAD, 4 HURT, IN CAR CRASH

Westfield, March 18.—One person was killed, another fatally injured and three others seriously hurt in an automobile accident on Lane Manor street, on the south side of this city today.

Two deaths occurred when a machine, being operated by Stanley J. Pance, of No. 3 Bryant street was struck broadside by an automobile being operated by Lionard Lamb of Cook.

Luther King, 35 employed with the Babcock Wilcox plant, was killed when he was pinned through the wind shield. When aid arrived Lamb was in an unconscious condition in the Place, Stanley Kic, and John Sienna suffering from minor injuries.

Physicians at the hospital stated that Estabrook's condition was not serious.

CALLS MEXICAN DIVORCES FAKES

Philadelphia, March 18 (AP)—Whether Gordon W. Disharoon, alleged promoter of a "holiday divorce mill," by which separations were obtained under the laws of Yucatan Mexico, manufactured decrees without reference to the West an county was one of the questions facing Federal officials today as they continued their investigation of Disharoon's activities.

The investigation which will include asking the State Department for assistance, is expected to reveal the names of many persons of this country who are said to have obtained interlocutory decrees which were believed to be operative.

Disharoon is under arrest on a federal warrant charged with obtaining money under false pretenses and using the mails to defraud. His arrest came after United States Inspector [illegible] said he was told by [illegible] that Disharoon had received $100,000 in fees and that he did not see any of the divorces were issued. The papers are written on

HARVARD EDITORS CLASH

Comic Weekly Men Rout the Daily Rivals in Pitched Battle on Street

A pitched battle in Bow and Plympton streets, Cambridge, today, featured the increasing tenseness of the ancient rivalry between the Harvard Lampoon, the college purveyor of humor, and the Crimson, the Harvard daily newspaper.

The fight was a hangover of the [illegible] Day warfare of the mid-[illegible].

At day light, five Crimson editors [illegible] a siege to the Lampoon stronghold where a lone guard gave brief battle retired and called for help on the telephone. As a result of his appeal the Crimson men were attacked from behind by superior numbers and driven back to their own strong hold, while students in buildings along the route of battle shouted encouragement and effected a protest from their windows at the noise.

PREDICT LAMPY COLLAPSE.

Both sides were battered and ragged when the Crimsonians sought safety inside the walls of the Crimson building, but "Lampy" men were only just beginning to celebrate their victory when the newsboys rushed out with copies of the daily, serious by announcing to the college and world at large that "Lampy" was down and out at last, its building declared unsafe and its whole plant on the market.

While undergraduates were wondering whether it was a joke, with Lampy the butt, Editor J. O. Whedon issued a vitriolic retort, writing to the president of the rival sheet.

EDITOR RUFFLED.

"When your issue of today comes into the registered couriers of the college the Crimson sank publishing the monstrous inanities of the gutter to the slanderous level of the sewer. Your puny attacks are no more effective than the nips of a flea upon the rump of Pegasus but they are nevertheless annoying. We are [illegible] Pegasus be moved [illegible] us."

PUSSY WILLOWS FROM SOUTH BARRED BY MAINE

Augusta, Me., March 18 (AP).—The Southland's pussy willow will bloom in vain this year as far as Maine is concerned. For many years it has been the custom of Maine friends of residents of this state to send sprigs of the first harbinger of Spring north as soon as the velvety white buds showed themselves. This year, however, [illegible] has been declared because the [illegible] moth, which feeds on the willow and poplar, is rampant. The infested area includes most of the southern part of the State.

DIAMOND HOPES ARE CHEERFUL

Coach Joyce Has Experienced and an Enthusiastic Squad; Successful Season Assured

By EDDIE DONDERO

Because Coach Bill Joyce is anxious to get a glimpse of the 1926 material at Lynn Classical with seven veterans returning to their regular positions, the North Shore League club goes under observation for the first time next Monday in gymnasium drill.

Eddie Dondero

Seventy - five youths will enjoy participation in indoor training activities which will be held for two weeks. A champion and his team may be expected with Rogers and Lynn English as the only troublesome rivals.

There are two things which Coach Joyce intends to develop, a dangerous wrecking crew and a fast-stepping pitching staff. He is conversant with the situation and besides having an excellent varsity team, a corps of aspirants will be added to the roster for experience and a

The only weakness which the Lynnites are hit by at this early stage is the lack of fly sleuths. Nuggets M'Connie is the only one left over who saw action a year ago, his two catching mates being lost through graduation.

Aside from this fact every other berth is filled by able and experienced players. Peter Pappa will Sammy Krasnow excel in the pitching department.

Steve Shanosky, ex-captain and catcher, has returned to the fold after declining many offers to play semi-professional baseball.

MISSES BROWNE AND RYAN IN DOUBLES FINAL

By FRED C. LANE.

Living up to expectations, Miss Elizabeth Ryan and her teammate, Miss Mary K. Browne, Californian tennis wizards, became finalists in the national doubles tournament at the Longwood covered court today, where they eliminated Mrs. William Endicott and Mrs. J. D. Corbiere, who held title a year ago in the semi-final round. The scores were 6—2, 6—2.

The Coast stars will be pitted against Mrs. J. B. Jessup and Mrs. George W. Wightman in the final round on Saturday afternoon with the title at stake. This combination vanquished Mrs. M. Bayard and Katherine Gardiner in the semi-finals by the scores of 6—1, 6—3.

When play will be resumed this week-end the Coast team of Miss Ryan and Browne are favored, following their excellent work today in putting the former title holders out of the running.

MISS BROWNE WINS.

This morning's matches in the women's national singles champion ships at Longwood saw the eliminations of the last of the local players. Mrs. J. P. Corbiere was put out by Miss Mary K. Browne, and Miss Katherine Gardiner fell an easy victim before Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup.

Miss Browne and Mrs. Jessup, through these victories, won their way to the semi-final round, and will meet for the right to play in the finals, tomorrow. The other semi-finals are Miss Elizabeth Ryan and Miss Martha Bayard.

In defeating Mrs. Corbiere, Miss Browne displayed clever placement and severe driving. After breaking through her opponent's serve in the fifth game of the first set she kept up a steady pace to win.

Mrs. Jessup had no trouble at all in disposing of Miss Gardiner, both sets being taken at love.

The point score of the Browne-Corbiere match:

First set

Miss Browne	40	40	40	40	6—1
Mrs. Corbiere	15	15	15	15	2—6

Second set

Miss Browne	40	40	40	40	6—2
Mrs. Corbiere	15	15	15	15	2—6

Summary

Miss Mary K. Browne defeated Mrs J. P. Corbiere, 6—2, 6—2

Miss Elizabeth Ryan defeated Miss Katherine Gardner, 6—1, 6—0

Training Camp

THE SENATORS' big four pitchers will take the mound Saturday in their first game of the training season, with the exception of Walter Johnson. Coveleski, Bush and Ruether will face the Giants at Paramoria.

THE PIRATES are feeling fit after a 6 to 3 win over San Francisco and are ready for the second game of the series. Aaels from Wright's home run with two on board. The pitching of recruit Crowder featured.

THE ST. LOUIS CARDINAL squad is hard hit by colds, due to the continuing rain, and new weather. Hallahan and Sherdel are the newest additions to the sick list.

THE BROWNS' camp is without the services of Bob Lemotte for a week or so as he stopped a batted ball squarely with his eye in the game with the Winter Park Braves at Orlando. Lucas, Martin and Ehmer were in action.

THE DETROIT TIGERS will play intra-club baseball for the remainder of the week. The two teams have been chosen and one game already played, in which Hallmann and Manush held a slugging duel.

THE WHITE SOX celebrated St. Patrick's Day by an inpre nive victory over Shreveport, in which several youngsters participated, namely Berman, Stewarats, Carsey, Morehart and Veltman.

Truro Bearcats Return to Hub for Two Ice Battles

For the first time in the history of indoor hockey in this city a team from the Maritime Provinces is coming to Boston with a clear and undisputed claim to the club hockey championship of that district. This team is the Truro, N. S. Bearcats, one of the most colorful teams that has ever graced the local surface.

The Bearcats recently won the Provincial crown by defeating the Campellton, N. B., team, winning the Marven trophy and the Starr Shield.

The visitors will tackle the B. A. A. A. on their last visit here, tomorrow night and Pere Marquette on Saturday night. The natives took a lot of pride in the Truro boys after the latter had knocked off Boston College and B

SOX OUT TO EVEN SERIES WITH NEW ORLEANS

By JACK CONWAY

NEW ORLEANS, La., Mar. 18. The Red Sox will today make a gallant attempt to even up their series with New Orleans when they collide with the Southern leaguers for the fifth game for the community charity chest.

The Pohls and Pelicans have played three tussels to date and the locals were out front on two occasions. All of which isn't pleasing to the big league ball players.

Pohl has mustered a strong line up for today's contest. Following Dagenaul center fielder Hunnicutt will play left field; Tobin, first base; Jenkins, left field; McCann, second base; Lee, shortstop, Moore and Bashaw, catchers; Weiser, Lundgren and Russell, pitchers.

Roman Herrera, the Cuban, who got one t around first base in practice. He will be coached to act as understudy to Phil Todt now that Wallie Shirey is out of the game for at least eight weeks with a broken leg.

Fred Winefield, veteran pitcher, who has been troubled by a lame arm, is rounding into condition and expects to be able to take a turn in the box in another week.

45 ENTRIES FOR BOYS' CLUB

With the Boys Club amateur baseball tournament two weeks away, 45 entries have already been received by Ned Hurwitz, athletic director of the Charlestown institution, for the competition which begins on March 29 and continues until a winner is decided. Last year 37 teams established a record as far as entrants go but this mark will be topped.

In every nook a hare batch of entry blanks is welcomed by Mr. Hurwitz, who is dividing them into their respective classes. The Mail and Club and the Lighter Club two outstanding favorites in the senior and 135-pound classes, were the first to enter the contest.

The new division which is called the "Pygmies" for boys weighing 90 pounds or less is also making a big hit with the amateur basketeers in Greater Boston.

No entrance fee is necessary. The referees and other officials who will descend on affair will come from the approved board in Eastern Massachusetts. The team circle must be composed of amateurs who had played together throughout the current season.

RICKARD PLANS TO IGNORE DEMPSEY

New York, March 18 (N E A)—Reports today that Tex Rickard plans not to ignore Jack Dempsey in his preparations for the outdoor season are to close a bout between Gene Tunney and Young Stribling as the main event of the summer. It is said to be awaiting the outcome of the bout between Stribling and Jimmy Slattery at the Garden next week before putting his plans into action.

FLATLEY WITH BRAVES

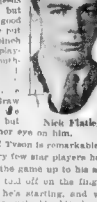
Tyson Starts at 36. Ott Is Only 17. Roger Likes Braves.

By NICK FLATLEY

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 18.—Age doesn't matter at all in baseball, I guess. Tyler Tyson, 36, is a regular outfielder, Tyson by name, who is some 36 years old.

This is his first time up and he's expected to be a wonder. The same Giants have the baby of baseball in the person off Ott, a 17-year-old schoolboy picked up from the sandlots of New Orleans.

The kid needs experience, but has looked good enough to be put in as a pinch hitter while players are being sounded out as to their worth and strength are trying out on the bench. McGraw will send Ott to the boy out, but keep an anchor eye on him.



Nick Flatley

The case of Tyson is remarkable in baseball. Very few star players have remained in the game up to his age. They can be told off on the fingers almost. Yet he's starting, and was rated such a valuable big league prospect that the Giants had to pay $75,000 for him.

He looks like a ball player and is a fast runner, but batting when a career should close is like too much handicap. This athlete was cited for years in the American Association. Quite a few clubs would have grabbed him, but they didn't think he was worth much money.

Last year every club in baseball fell sour on him and sold him. It is too early yet to get the real dope on him, but he looks better than most newcomers.

MANAGER McGRAW and Roger Bresnahan, his new right eye, both think very well of the players. Ralph had charge of them here and admitted that he wished his own club had the same fire and drive.

"Danny has a young team," declares Roger, and naturally it would be easy to win. So I'll be satisfied if they're batting .500 position. The kids have more spring punch than the veterans. By this I don't mean that the Braves will fade. They look like a team that can go a long way and kick up a deal of trouble. They surely should figure in the National race.

BRESNAHAN, who has been managing for years out in the double A leagues, was signed up by McGraw when Hughey Jennings was taken sick. Roger used to play with the Giants in the good old tough days of the pastime, and he is a great pal of the New York manager.

He's a smart baseball man, and a fighter, and should be a fine influence on the ex-champions, who are preparing to stage a comeback.

'Tweet' Walsh Tells How to Nab Hot Ones

THIS is the seventh of a series of stories by college baseball stars on how to play the various positions and how to make good on the diamond. There will be about twenty stories, one each week day. They will prove a baseball education for college, school and sandlot players.

By BILL CONSODINE

"THERE'S an old saying on the sandlots that doesn't apply to baseball at all, at least to college baseball at third base as Jack Barry teaches it.

That old saying is "two hands for beginners." Jack says its two hands for everyone whenever possible. That is the big thing that a third baseman should learn.

"Tweet" Walsh, sensational third baseman on the championship Holy Cross baseball teams of the past few years, was doing the talking in answer to some of our questions. Tweet was handful until we asked him if he made many one-hand stops on bunts.

"YOU'RE sure of your ball if you use two hands" explained the stocky Purple third baseman. "You never can feel safe if you only use one. By that I don't mean that a third baseman should only go after balls that are going to be easy assists or putouts. Not at all. He should go after everything that it is possible to get. But he should use two hands whenever he can.

"In addition to using two hands, the third baseman should take an other precautionary measure. He should play in front of the ball. If he doesn't the ball may go through his hands and out into the left field. If he does play in front of the ball and it gets through his hands his body will stop it, so that he can recover it in time to get the man at first base.

"THE distance is short and the ball can get there quicker than the man. On hard hit line balls the baseman should knock them down and then recover the ball for his throw.

"You have to straighten it on every play that you are in before you can throw the ball. Straightening up is good insurance against wild throws. Many basers get the basers got set on their feet before they make any throws to the other base for that reason.

"TWEET" said also that the third baseman is dependent upon the catcher for instructions on every bunt that comes down the line. The catcher should sing out and say where to throw the ball.

Walsh is a local boy from Woburn High School who has more than made good at Holy Cross. He used to play baseball for the Lynn Comets and after that for Fitchburg and Salem. "Tweet" is a senior at Holy Cross this Spring but he isn't considering taking up baseball as a life work. He has other ambitions which he will not divulge.

Henry Bagley, captain and catcher of the Tufts nine, will be heard from tomorrow

Helen Wills Wins Easily

CANNES, France, March 18 (A P.)—Miss Helen Wills, the American champion, is meeting little opposition in her advance through the singles of the Cannes Club lawn tennis tournament. In the quarter finals today she defeated Miss J. M. Fadwick of England without the loss of a game.

Miss Wills has bettered Suzanne Lenglen's tournament record by winning 48 out of 50 games in the first four rounds. She now enters the semi-finals, where she meets Eileen Bennett of England, who had a hard struggle today to defeat Miss Petchell.

Boxing Notes

Willie Spencer of New York will be the opponent of Tony Mandell, the Worcester featherweight, at the Worcester A. A. show in Mechanics Hall Worcester tomorrow night. Matchmaker Jim Dolan of the Commonwealth city of the Heart of the Commonwealth pulled off a coup.

Charlie White another great boxer and lad of Irish descent who has been as idle as he's become very successful in the hotel business, Charlie first opened up the Chicago's North Side a special school for women fakirs. Dempsey was a great visitor today he has purchased a spot in the heart of Chicago's Loop and is running a grand opening on March 25. So it goes, with plenty of proof that a number of fighters are successful when smart enough to think the ring days will end and prepare for the big money before it get them.

Red Chapman is to box Tommy Wright, Worcester, Mass., in the Matters A. A. show at the Worcester auditorium tomorrow night. Chapman is a protege of Red Lucas, the former pitcher, after training under the direction of Al Lacey, who is with the Boston Braves Charlie Carlin.

North Shore folks can take their pick of the two shows to view action tomorrow night. Matchmaker Jim Mole of the Salem A. A. is running a pro show in the North street rink, featuring Jack Townsend Benson and Jack Ward, Revere, both colored heavyweights. Elmer Nixon and Billie Burke, another colored heaver, will perform in the semi-final, and there are six round bouts on the card. Over in Lynn Jack Dempsey and Ted Schmidt go three rounds in the Pioneer A. A. amateur bouts tonight at Lynn.

Miller, Who Was Once Laughed At, Has Won Last 35 Bouts

WEIGHED 95 POUNDS AT FIRST

Now They Compare Him With Stan Ketchel, a Two-Handed, Shifty Scrapper

By RINGSIDE

Ray Miller of Chicago is ready to go the hurdles in a ten round boxing bout with Dick "Honeyboy" Finnegan of Dorchester in the feature of the Commercial A. C. show to be staged in Mechanics Building Friday night.

This blond Westerner, when only a mere slip of a kid, and a resident of Rock Island, in 1922 stepped up to the A. A. A. U. boxing director of that section and asked for an application to take part in sparring matches.

He was greeted by a hearty laugh from the attending officials, who, seeing his size, took him as a joke. Turning away from Miller, not a bit interested, he said "Say, kid, send the party who told you to enter the ring to me and I will endeavor to give him a boxing lesson."

But, Ray, ready to give an argument in his own behalf, stepped right in close and pleaded with the Western official who finally said "O. K., kid, if you want to get hit all right."

For his first fight, the invading Westerner only weighed 95 pounds and he had to get out of his class and battle with featherweights.

Miller, however, knowing his possibilities, carried on to his heart's content, as the fans kept kidding him about the young giants.

His being forced to meet bantams [illegible] forced Miller into the money making class where he [illegible] success with little [illegible]. Milwaukee was the place [illegible] he centred his attentions.

One would say that Miller has a right to laugh at all his knockers, for today he stands out undefeated in his last thirty-five ring contests.

Out through the West they have nicknamed him the second Stanley Ketchel.

The other half of the Parker-Ford fracas. The bout between these featherweights has been hanging fire for some time. Henry was the star of the amateur lightweights before turning pro.

BUSY WEEK FOR LOCAL BOXERS

Mitts will fly thick and fast around the Hub for the next three days. That is there are to be amateur shows today, tomorrow and on Saturday, while the professionals will have two shows tomorrow night, one under the direction of the Commercial Club with Ray Miller, Chicago, meeting Honeyboy Finnegan of Dorchester, in the feature. The other will be the Salem A. A. show in the Witch City, where at the North Street Rink, Jack Townsend will tackle Jack Ward of Montreal. Both are heavyweights.

Out at the Boston Y. M. H. A. on Seaver street, Roxbury, tonight there is to be another amateur boxing tournament with an interesting list of simon pures performing. Contests will be staged in 112, 135 pound classes and heavyweight divisions, for novices, while the 126 and 147 pound open classes should give a thrill.

Tomorrow night the Pioneer A. A. of Lynn, one of the progressive amateur organizations in the State, will swing out with another bantier amateur boxing tourney. This performance will have a feature heavyweight entry list with three New England champions taking part, Joe Monte, Brockton 175-pound title holder and Bob Mills, heavyweight king, both senior champions, while Tony Cecchi of Charlestown, is junior heavyweight champion.

There will also be conflicts in the 112, 135 and 160 pound open classes, while the 147 pound division is for novice lads.

Directors of the St. Joseph T. A. S. of the West End, will continue their Saturday night shows in Commercial Hall, with the regular schedule of bouts in the seven championship classes, 112, 118, 126, 135, 147, 160 and heavyweight. Entries close with William H. Cuddy, Room 10, No. 258 Washington street, City.

LONG before the first crocus crashes through the ground, the first signed entry blank for the B. A. A. Marathon makes its appearance as a harbinger of Spring. In just a month the great annual classic will be held. More than a hundred runners will be kicking up the dust between Ashland and Exeter street, providing there is any dust. And some of the big dust kickers will be among the also rans.

For more than a quarter of a century the B. A. A. has been spending thousands of dollars each year on this event. Tom Kanaly and others of the B. A. A. put in many long hours over it and the great success of the event is a big boost to the distance running game in this part of the country. Goldberg's statement that "They always come back for more" is borne out by the fact that some of the runners keep pegging away at the long jaunt year after year, always hoping and trying to be among the first ten.

Breaks of Baseball
Future of Shaner

Who Occupies a Unique Position in the Writing World As An Authority on Problems of Love.

THE human is never perfect, ye' we all long for perfection, for perfect pleasure, perfect peace, perfect wisdom, beauty and love. The inevitable result of this yearning for the unattainable is discontent.

You may feel that to be loved would be utter happiness. Yet love when it comes to you fails to bring complete joy.

If we marry to attain heart's desire, and settle down to that dreamed of "happiness ever after" no matter how successful and worthwhile the marriage is, there will be discontent. You can't find perfect joy even through love. Marriage brings worries, responsibilities, monotony. The helpmate you adored will prove to have irritating faults.

The only useless, tragic discontent is that which whines with complaining self pity but makes no constructive effort to better conditions.

Alice is wretched because John doesn't love her as he used to when they were first married. He doesn't make love to her nowadays, nor bring her roses and candy.

It never occurs to Alice that John has simply settled down to the comfort of her companionship and ceased to talk of what he now takes for granted. Moreover, Alice no longer makes the effort to charm John that she used to make in courtship days.

She could still be enchantingly restful and stimulating, agreeable and attractive to him if she would make the effort. If for instance, she gave up nagging and finding fault, and listened to his jokes and stories with the same admiring enthusiasm she used to display, doubtless some of John's old-time devotion and considerate tenderness would revive.

Now and then we may find ourselves troubled over a longing for something we can never richly possess and for which we have not even the right to long. If a disturbing, destructive desire of this sort occurs to you, put it resolutely out of your thoughts and remembrance, for the sake of you and others of peace, joy and a clear conscience.

But as a rule, there's a constructive answer to every cry of discontent, an answer which will enable you to realize your desire through unselfish service, love and self-respect. The road to perfect joy is long. No matter how far we travel we shall find it still stretching ahead. But by making the most of what we have, the circumstances the job, the husband, the children that are ours, we may travel along this road to perfection with unfailing progress, happy companionship and love.

A great love is sure to bring discontent. A woman who suffered much through unhappy love has written: "Life and love are not fairy tales. They are as bitter as death sometimes and as splendid as God, if there is one. For me this is hard, somewhat bigger than myself, so I am uncomfortable, so I will have to grow somewhat more fit."

Be grateful if such a love affair and marriage impel you to think, aspire, labor, endure and grow in charm and unselfish service until you can better into the infinite bigness of life.

FAY KING SEES REAL MENACE IN WILD MATRONS

By Fay King

If there is one person with whom I lose all patience and who I wish could be padlocked like a night club it is the woman who is so excited over her indiscretions that she seems to get a vicarious thrill out of inspiring other women to go forth and sin as she did!

Shame she knows none! Regret she wouldn't admit if she did feel it! She is a successful failure and wants everybody else to be the same!

You find her the cheer leader of wild parties.

The insincere sage who sets young married women to doubting their husbands while they are away on a business trip!

She is always conspiring affairs for wives and rebukes the thought that being a "little nice to him" would be any harm at all!

She beguiles girls to make her house a second home and finds it convenient to make it appear her admirers are theirs in case her own husband gets suspicious.

She ridicules all that is worth while and in her low grade cleverness delights to destroy all the ideals of young persons and the teachings of their parents!

Call me intolerant if you will — but I cannot tolerate a woman who under the guise of respectability does more harm than the most unscrupulous hostess of a night club!

She spoils innocence where the professional worthless woman of the world can never approach!

Money and her husband's position permit her to invade the most exclusive residential districts in a city and her influence is that of a house of ill-fame!

She is a type of tolerance par-plus!

She defends the disreputable and toasts the daring who defy and destroy conventions!

She makes the cad feel like a hero and condemns a modest woman as a prude!

She gives vice its most dangerous setting for she is married, received and secure!

She does her vicious entertaining in her home, thereby lending protection that cannot be penetrated!

Although neighbors and parents of the young persons she encourages to dissipation know what is going on, what can they do about it?

Young married women, believing her to be the most fascinating, wisest friend they know, go to her for advice, and her advice is that "what husbands don't know won't hurt them!" The devotion of her own husband, who she constantly deceives, convinces them—and another marriage falls!

Poor, foolish women who cluster about her, making a favorable background, believe that in not only being tolerant, but in approving of her they are "modern" and "broad-minded" and more "worth while!"

Pointers and Recipes From Martha Lee's Pen

The Economical Deep Fat Kettle

GREETINGS, everybody!

"Have you a little deep fat ket tle in your home?" If you have there's no limit to the delicious dishes you can make with very little trouble from left-overs.

And what I especially like about deep fat frying is the saving in dishwashing, for the kettle of fat can be used a great many times before it is necessary to strain and clarify it. (A raw potato boiled occasionally in the fat will do the clarifying trick for you).

A very thick sauce is the foundation of all successful croquettes. Here's the rule:

CROQUETTE SAUCE.

Melt 3 tablespoons of shortening; add 3 cup bread flour. Stir till well blended. Add 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoonful salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper and a few drops of onion juice. A little Worcestershire sauce, paprika or ketchup can be used for variety. Cook until thick and smooth. Let cool and then add 2 chopped meat, fish, etc.

Meat croquettes are wonderfully good made from the remnants of sunday roasts and served with left-over gravy:

MEAT CROQUETTES.

To 2 cups of cooked meat cut in small pieces add 1 teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce and a few drops of onion juice; mix with 1 cup of croquette sauce and put on ice until cold. Shape into small croquettes or cutlets, roll in crumbs, dip in egg, and again in crumbs, and fry in hot, deep fat. Any left-over meat may be used.

Fish croquettes suit many people better than plain fried or boiled fish. They also offer a delicious and economical method of using up the left-overs. It's always best to buy enough fish for two meals. Here's the recipe

FISH CROQUETTES

2 cups cold flaked fish.
1 tablespoon lemon juice.
Few drops onion juice.
Salt and cayenne.
1 cup croquette sauce.

Use remnants of baked or boiled fish, sprinkle with lemon and onion juice, dust lightly with salt and cayenne, and mix with sauce. When cold, shape into small croquettes or cutlets, dip in crumbs, egg, and again in crumbs, and fry in hot, deep fat 1 minute. Serve with tomato or tartar sauce.

Rice croquettes may be served as a vegetable with tomato or cheese sauce or as a dessert with maple sugar. They are becoming extremely popular in smart tea rooms:

RICE CROQUETTES.

1 egg slightly beaten.
¼ teaspoon salt.
¼ teaspoon onion juice.
1 tablespoon tomato ketchup.
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.
2 tablespoons cold water.
2 cups cooked rice.

Mix in order given; shape into small pyramids, dip in crumbs, egg, and again in crumbs, and fry in hot, deep fat.

If for dessert, make these by recipe and serve with currant jelly sauce or lemon sauce (recipe on request).

"Bye until tomorrow.

The Making of a Husband, Ann Lisle's Clever Serial

By Ann Lisle

SUDDENLY I realized that we were not on the road to The Hedgerow at all. When the tree sent its enormous snow laden branch falling across our path, we had been heading due north—toward The Hedgerow. Jim had flung me forward out of the way of the branch which had cut us apart. I had gone around the big impediment to find Jim. And when I began dragging him along, I had not turned and plodded around the branch again.

I'm not [illegible] I said with [illegible] Jim.

Then I realized that we were less than half a mile from our house when the tree fell. And I had been walking for what seemed like an hour. Our house had been left in darkness. We must have passed it. There was a branch of the road just below. I did not know whether or not we had set off there since we were falling again, swirling so fast before the wind that I could not see three feet ahead.

Again the wild howling sounded.

I sent up another prayer, staggered forward and crashed into wooden palings. I ran my hand along them experimentally. They felt familiar. Gradually I became hopeful—then sure.

"It's our fence," I cried in triumph.

We were almost at the gates of The Birches. The packed snow I felt under my feet a moment before, marks the end of the trail cut by the sledge that drove Jim and Arlette up from the village this morning.

[illegible] I realized that I felt as if I had a new lease of life. I seized Jim under the armpits and began walking backward as I dragged him along after me. Step by step, I fell my tortuous way. We reached the gate. We were on the path. Only a few more yards to go and we should be within the shelter of our own home.

From my experience with Tarzan of the Apes before I knew I should be able to take care of Jim—[illegible] and restore him—to see him breathing naturally in healthy sleep before long.

Then the hoots which had so terrified me began sounding nearer and nearer. I saw a sudden spark of light approaching. The spark separated and became two sparks. The sparks were green. Eyes. The eyes of a hungry animal!

I threw both my snow shoes at the animal. It turned and fled. Then with one wild effort I dragged Jim to the steps, up them—bumping as I went—and onto the porch of The Birches.

The animal I had routed for a moment, yowled again and started forward. This time I loosed the pack from Jim's back and hurled it. It must have struck the animal's paw, for it turned and limped away.

"I've used many laundry soaps but I like Rinso the best for the weekly wash. It is so easy to use and does away with the old-time rubbing and scrubbing. I also use it for scalding clothes and think it is wonderful. The way Rinso whitens clothes is simply marvelous, and they last longer, too, because there's no hard rubbing to do. I've been married three years and have used Rinso constantly and my mother used it before me."

MRS. J. C. CLOW
15 Linden Street
Brookline, Mass.

You never saw a whiter wash in all your life

—yet you don't even need a washboard

No wonder new thousands are turning every week to Rinso.

This amazing granulated soap actually soaks out the dirt so that scrubbing isn't necessary. It ends hard rubbing against a board—the one great cause of clothes wearing out.

Even in the hardest water Rinso whips at once into rich, lasting suds that loosens the ground-in dirt and eases out the stains. The most soiled spots need only a soft rub between the fingers to make them snowy.

Safe for your best linens

Use Rinso instead of bar soap. It's all you need. Just soak all the wash in Rinso suds — rinse — and your work is done!

The clothes are whiter than you could rub them—whiter, even, than boiling could make them. And your hands are white, too—not red and swollen.

No laundry soap is easier on hands or clothes than Rinso. It contains nothing to injure white clothes or fast colors, because it's free from acids, harsh chemicals, bleaches. You could soak your finest white table cloth in Rinso for days without harm.

Best for washing machines

Rinso is recommended by 23 leading washing machine makers. It gets clothes whiter, brighter than ever, in much less time.

Whether you use a washing machine or not, be sure to try Rinso this week. It will save your hands—save your clothes—save you! Get Rinso from your grocer. Follow simple directions on package.

She does her vicious entertaining in her home, thereby lending protection that cannot be penetrated!

Although neighbors and parents of the young persons she encourages to dissipation know what is going on, what can they do about it?

Young married women, believing her to be the most fascinating, wisest friend they know, go to her for advice, and her advice is that "what husbands don't know won't hurt them!" The devotion of her own husband, who she constantly deceives, convinces them—and another marriage falls!

Poor, foolish women who cluster about her, making a favorable background, believe that in not only being tolerant, but in approving of her they are "modern" and "broad-minded" and more "worth while!"

Pointers and Recipes From Martha Lee's Pen

The Economical Deep Fat Kettle

GREETINGS, everybody!

"Have you a little deep fat kettle in your home?" If you have, there's no limit to the delicious dishes you can make with very little trouble from left-overs.

And what I especially like about deep fat frying is the saving in dishwashing, for the kettle of fat can be used a great many times before it is necessary to strain and clarify it. (A raw potato boiled occasionally in the fat will do the clarifying trick for you).

A very thick sauce is the foundation of all successful croquettes. Here's the rule:

CROQUETTE SAUCE.

Melt 2 tablespoons of shortening; add 1-2 cup bread flour. Stir till well blended. Add 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoonful salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper and a few drops of onion juice. A little Worcestershire sauce, paprika or ketchup can be used for variety. Cook until thick and smooth. Let cool and then add 1 cup chopped meat, fish, etc.

MEAT CROQUETTES.

To 2 cups of cooked meat cut in small pieces add 1 teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce and a few drops of onion juice; mix with 1 cup of croquette sauce and put on ice until cold. Shape into small croquettes or cutlets, roll in crumbs, dip in egg, and again in crumbs, and fry in hot, deep fat. Any left-over meat may be used.

Fish croquettes and many people like better than plain fried or boiled fish. They also offer a delicious and economical method of using up the left-overs. It's always best to buy enough fish for two meals. Here's the recipe

FISH CROQUETTES.

2 cups cold flaked fish.
1 tablespoon lemon juice.
Few drops onion juice.
Salt and pepper.
1 cup croquette sauce.

Use remnants of baked or boiled fish, sprinkle with lemon and onion juice, and let lie for an hour with salt and pepper and mix with sauce. When cool shape into small croquettes or cutlets, dip in crumbs, egg and again in crumbs, and fry in hot deep fat 1 minute. Serve with tomato or tartar sauce.

Rice croquettes may be served as a vegetable with tomato or cheese sauce or as a dessert with maple sugar. They are becoming extremely popular in smart tea rooms:

RICE CROQUETTES.

1 egg slightly beaten.
¼ teaspoon salt.
¼ teaspoon onion juice.
1 tablespoon tomato ketchup.
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.
2 tablespoons cold water.
2 cups cooked rice.

Mix in order given shape into small patties dip in egg, salt, and again in crumbs, and fry in hot, deep fat.

If for dessert, make these by recipe and serve with currant jelly sauce or lemon sauce (recipe on request).

"Bye until tomorrow.

The Making of a Husband, Ann Lisle's Clever Serial

By Ann Lisle

SUDDENLY I realized that we were [illegible] The Hedgerow at all. When the tree sent its enormous snow laden branch falling across our path, we had been heading due north—toward The Hedgerow. Jim had flung me forward out of the way of the branch which had cut us apart. I had gone around the big impediment to find Jim. And when I began dragging him along, I had not turned and climbed around the branch again.

"I am heading home," I said with a momentary sense of joy.

Then I realized that we were less than half a mile from our house [illegible] And I had no [illegible] to [illegible] us back. It [illegible] an hour. Our house had been left in darkness. We must have passed it. There was a branch of the road just below it. I did not know whether or not we had turned off there. Snow was falling again, swirling so fast before the wind that I could not see three feet ahead.

Again the wild howling sounded [illegible] I [illegible] up another prayer staggered forward and crashed into wooden palings. I ran my hand along them experimentally. They felt familiar. Gradually I became hopeful—then sure.

"It's our fence," I cried in triumph.

We were almost at the gates of The Birches. The packed snow I felt under my feet a moment before, marks the end of the trail cut by the sledge that drove Jim and Arlette up from the village this morning.

When I realized this I felt as if I had a new lease of life. I seized Jim under the armpits and began [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] long [illegible] [illegible] my tortuous way. We reached the gate. We were on the path. Only a few more yards to go and we should be within the shelter of our own home.

From my experience with Tarzan the night before I knew I should be able to take care of Jim—to revive and restore him—to see him breathing naturally in healthy sleep before long.

Then the howls which had so terrified me began sounding nearer and nearer. I saw a sudden spark of light approaching. The spark separated and became two sparks. The sparks were green. Eyes. The eyes of a hungry animal!

I threw both my snow shoes at the animal. It turned and fled. Then with one wild effort I dragged Jim to the steps, up them bumping as I went and onto the porch of The Birches.

The animal I had routed for a moment, yowled again and started forward. This time I loosed the pack from Jim's back and turned it. It must have struck the animal's paw, for it turned and limped away.

"I've used many laundry soaps but I like Rinso the best for the weekly wash. It is so easy to use and does away with the old-time rubbing and scrubbing. I also use it for scalding clothes and think it is wonderful. The way Rinso whitens clothes is simply marvelous, and they last longer, too, because there's no hard rubbing to do. I've been married three years and have used Rinso constantly and my mother used it before me."

MRS. J. C. CLOW
15 Linden Street
Brookline, Mass.

Millions use Rinso. Thousands write us letters like this.

You never saw a whiter wash in all your life

—yet you don't even need a washboard

No wonder new thousands are turning every week to Rinso.

This amazing granulated soap actually soaks out the dirt so that scrubbing isn't necessary. It ends hard rubbing against a board—the one great cause of clothes wearing out.

Even in the hardest water Rinso whips at once into rich, lasting suds that loosens the ground-in dirt and coaxes out the stains. The most soiled spots need only a soft rub between the fingers to make them snowy.

Mrs. J. C. Clow, Brookline, says:

Safe for your best linens

Use Rinso instead of bar soap. It's all you need. Just soak all the wash in Rinso suds — rinse — and your work is done!

The clothes are whiter than you could rub them—whiter, even, than boiling could make them. And your hands are white, too—not red and swollen.

No laundry soap is easier on hands or clothes than Rinso. It contains nothing to injure white clothes or fast colors, because it's free from acids, harsh chemicals, bleaches. You could soak your finest white table cloth in Rinso for days without harm.

Best for washing machines

Rinso is recommended by 23 leading washing machine makers. It gets clothes whiter, brighter than ever, in much less time.

Whether you use a washing machine or not, be sure to try Rinso this week. It will save your hands—save your clothes—save you! Get Rinso from your grocer. Follow simple directions on package.

—a regular blank cartridge. Ruthink of it! Here are these flapers of sixteen coming along and king our men from us!"

Fay's Lament

Her face was quite tragic as she went on: "And then, there's another thing. Tomorrow night is Hallowe'en and for the first time in my whole life I haven't been invited to some kind of Hallowe'en party! You haven't any idea how old and blue it makes me feel! You know, Sylvia, girls are old at twenty-three these days! Honestly, I'm beginning to feel like an old maid, and I've just about made up my mind to marry Eddie Carter right away and be done with it! If I don't, this March kid or some other flapper is going to sign him up, sure!"

It was plain that she was most unhappy because the faithful Eddie had gone "stepping" with Sally March's flapper sister.

And at the sight of her misery Sylvia forgot all the heart-ache and jealousy she had ever given her. Once more she was Fay's Very Best Friend, as she had been since they were ten years old.

"I'll tell you what, I'll throw a Hallowe'en party tomorrow night," she said, her eyes dancing with sudden excitement. "I think Ranny's getting a bit bored, anyway, or he wouldn't have wanted to play cards tonight."

In five minutes' time she was making out a list of the things she would need for a midnight lunch tomorrow night, and Fay was at the telephone inviting the "crowd."

"Sylvia and Ranny are going to give a rodeo tomorrow night," Sylvia heard her say, "and be sure to bring your rubbers along. It's going to be awfully, awfully wet. I'll tell you henturpin world!"

Sylvia walked out into the hall and laid her hand on Fay's shoulder. "I don't say we're going to have a party," she whispered, shaking her head, "because we're not."

Fay cut her conversation short and asked Sylvia what she meant, "for the love of Mike."

Just what I said—we're not having any more liquor parties in this house," Sylvia answered. "Ranny's been drinking and I'm not going to help pull him off the water wagon."

Fay Says It

Fay stared at her and began to hum something about "Sunday school scholars, every one—following in the steps of Washington."

"Listen, Lizzie!" she said, in her control way to Sylvia, when she had finished, "if you really have a yen to hold Ranny, you're not going to do it this way—by giving boozy parties and preaching to him about the evils of red rum!"

Sylvia flushed under the sting of her words.

"I don't preach to him about anything," she answered, "but Ranny's settled down lately. He's changed a lot since we've been married."

"Yes, he has—not!" Fay laughed, blinking her big green eyes like some itha lazy tiger cat. "You may think he's settled down for good, but he hasn't any more than a gas balloon! You just wait a while and he'll be giving you such a run for your money that your ankles will catch fire trying to keep up with him!"

Sylvia was not at all ruffled by what she said. She was sure that Ranny was through with his philandering and his poker playing. She knew that he had settled down, once and for all, to the serious business of being a married man and the Head of a Family—for hadn't he told her so himself? And hadn't he been home every night for a month? What more could she ask in the way of proof?

"Well, don't say I didn't warn you!" Fay said, getting up from her chair and lighting a fresh cigaret. "Warn me about what!"

"Warn you about Ranny," Fay yawned. "I know his type. He's just like I am—full of pep and gingerlits and adventure. Keep him guessing, Sylvia! Don't let him be too sure of you. Make him the least bit jealous and you every now and then. It'll do him good. It's the way to hold him!"

Sylvia shook her head.

"No," she said, with a quiet little smile that barely dimpled the corners of her soft mouth. "That's not my idea of being a wife to Ranny—to run away from him and say 'Chase me, Ranny, I have a new place to hide!' My notion of holding his love is by being on the job all the time by letting him know the truth—that he's the only man I've ever cared two pins about, or even will! May be I'm old-fashioned, but I can't help it!"

• • •

Fay came over to The Nest early the next evening to help Sylvia make sandwiches for the Hallowe'en party.

Peter's Gifts

When Ranny opened the door for her she marched in jauntily and solemnly winked her eye at him and Sylvia.

"See what the cat dragged in," she said, nodding toward the hall door! And in walked Peter Wilk, with his arms full of bundles!

"What do you think of us as the new vaudeville team—me an' Pete?" she asked impudently. "I telephoned him and asked him to bring me over. The big idea is to make Eddie jealous, see?"

Ranny laughed and answered with a line of slang that always puzzled Sylvia: "So's your ole man!"

"Sows your wild oats." Fay came back at him, looking up and giggling coyly, as if the two of them were the closest friends in the world and had all sorts of jokes between them.

As she watched them Sylvia couldn't help feeling the familiarity of Ranny that she always felt when Fay and Ranny were together.

For Fay gave him the thing that Sylvia knew she never could give him—amusement. Ranny always said she "tickled him to death"—and "was more fun than a barrel of monkeys," and when she was around he never noticed anyone else.

Sylvia forced herself to look away from them and to talk to Peter, who was still holding his bundles.

"I don't know what's in your packages, Santa Claus," she said, smiling at him with her lovely eyes, "but I can guess."

All her life she had seen pack ages like the ones that Peter was holding now. They were wrapped in shiny white paper and were bound with the green cord that Peter's sister, Sarah Wilk, always used when she tied up gifts.

Usually her gifts were things that she had baked—pies and cakes and crullers. For she was not only a wonderful cook, but very proud of her baking, and generous with it.

This time she had sent a bundle—tiny sandwiches—dainty, airy things made with jelly, or chicken, or caviar—and a hundred sugared cookies.

"I told Sarah you were having a party, and she thought it might help you out if she made these little things for you," Peter said in his awkward, embarrassed way.

He began to pull off the brown paper wrappings from a third bundle. Sylvia knew from the size and the shape of it that there were flowers in it.

And there were—two dozen great yellow chrysanthemums.

"I remember you used to like these," he was saying as he put them into Sylvia's hands.

Ranny Jealous

She held them tight in her arms and looked up at him.

"Peter," she said to him," you and Sarah are the two best people in the world. You always have been so good to me—and do you know something?—if ever I were in trouble, I think you two would be the people I'd come to—"

She broke off suddenly, realizing what she was saying, and walked into the dining room for a vase for the flowers.

When she came back Peter was sitting at the kitchen table beating a bowl of salad dressing with all his might. He had tied an apron over his suit and he seemed to be thoroughly at home.

"Never did this before in my life!" he said, stirring wildly, "but I do it well, don't I?"

A half hour later everything was ready for the supper. Sylvia was washing some olive oil from her hands when Ranny and Fay opened the door and came into the kitchen. They were laughing uproariously.

"Well, we and worry now, whether it's a dry party or not, Sylvia!" Fay gurgled, leaning against the sink for support. "We've four drinks ahead of the world, aren't we, Ranny?" She held up a silver whiskey flask and shook it to show Sylvia how she and Ranny had emptied it of every drop.

Ranny had stopped laughing suddenly. He was standing perfectly still in the centre of the kitchen, with his eyes fixed on the table where Peter's chrysanthemums had bloomed like yellow suns in their tall vase.

From them he looked grimly at Peter.

"Who told you you could bring my wife flowers?" he asked thickly, talking toward the table.

His face was flushed and his eyes blazed with his anger. Sylvia laid her hand on his arm, but he shook it off and leaned down into Peter's face.

"I repeat," he said again, "who told you you could bring flowers to my perfectly good wife?"

Peter's level gaze never shifted from his face, as he answered him:

"Phelps, you're just a plain fool, aren't you?" he asked, and he got up, untied his apron and handed it to Sylvia. Before any of them guessed what he was about, he had walked coolly out of the flat. A second later came the sound of The Nest's front door closing quietly behind him.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

Ranny and Fay, who are always making someone else jealous, experience the feeling themselves.

Eddie Carter arrives at Sylvia's party with "Puss" March, a young flapper. As a result, Fay suddenly announces her engagement to Eddie.

There is more of the "doings" of the flappers in tomorrow's installment.

Modern Life Still Leaves Us Kisses

DRAWN BY NELL BRINKLEY

THE last ten years has kissed a good many things that we were attached to "goodbye." We who are not flappers any more have had to learn to give ourselves shakings-up at regular intervals to keep adjusted to a world without certain graces—courtesy for instance, ribbons and laces on women, and sparkling Burgundy with our dinner unaccompanied by a sense of understandedness.

They even say that Love himself, even if he is not vanished, has changed his skin along with the date.

But KISSES still are in! And I and Love sit back and twiddle our thumbs on our belts firm in the faith that THEY at least will never change—or go.

Even the hard-minded, free-thinking, plain-spoken modern who flips a good many valuable things away with a flirt and a disputed lowerlip, still is addicted to kissing! Of all kinds—he can't help it. When a little child comes along in his house he kisses it just as his grandaddy did his father and loves to do it.

Still is there the lover's kiss—that needs no picture.

Still is there that valuable kiss—that diamond among kisses—the farewell kiss to a Daddy going to the office—sent from the bungalow window on the pink palm of one's little son.

Still is there left—I've run across it—the adoring first kiss on the back of a surprised girl's hand. That argues that there is still left the young man who does not dare her lips first. HE exists also. And if all the other young men knew how even a flippant little flapper values this sort when it is honestly given, there would be an overwhelming shower of them falling from man to maid.

Still is there the kiss-and-run kiss. The kind that old Father Winter feels suddenly on his hard red cheek from the delicious lips of Mamselle Spring. Sometimes she does kiss and run.

That's the day we go without our overcoats thinking it's going to be warm.

— NELL BRINKLEY.

Dr. Reed Writes on Influence of Sea Bathing

By Charles A. L. Reed, M. D.
Former President American Medical Association

IF you are one of the thousands who spend their holiday every year at the seaside, it would seem of importance before going to know the influence the sea has upon you as well as the way to avoid the harm it may create.

There are two principal influences affecting us at the seaside—climate and the sea water itself. The sea climate, independently of the sea baths, has an immensely beneficial effect upon people. Appetite increases, digestion is stimulated, breathing becoming deeper and less frequent; the weight increases and the tonicity of the muscles and of the nervous system is highly increased. In fact, the sea air stimulates general nutrition and is an immense tonic as regards all processes of the organism which tend to its betterment and healthy function.

The sea water has a definite physiological action upon the individual, depending upon its temperature, density, movement and chemical composition. The bath contributes to the body of the individual successively three different stages: Immersion or the dip into the water, by lower temperature acts upon the blood vessels of the skin, which contract. The blood flows towards the internal organs.

At the same time all the internal blood vessels, except those of the kidneys, dilate, the skin pales, the action of the heart and respiration becomes irregular, there is a general nervous tension and a general chilly or shivering sensation.

These phenomena will be short and less unpleasant by a quick and dip.

Owing to the loss of heat by the skin, the blood flows back to it again to warm it and the heart soon becomes more regular and a general feeling of well-being is experienced. If the stay into the water is short, after the first shivering stage is passed, the body is abnormally excited and the second beneficial reaction sets in.

As the exhaustion of the organism in resisting to the cold is limited and if the limit is passed, an increase combustion in the tissues occurs in order to replace the lost heat, which may undermine the strength of the organism and bring a loss of the bath strength. A bath may cause it if it is too cold, too long continued. It is much better to be satisfied with a short bath, even if somewhat unpleasant, than the first, and is a warning that the cooling of the body has been excessive.

From the above it follows that immersion into the water should be total and quick, that it is most important to avoid "secondary shivering," and bathing should be discontinued before it has occurred. The duration of a sea bath should never be longer than 10 minutes. The bath may be longer, if physical exercise, as swimming, is performed at the time.

LIVES ON FARM IN OKLAHOMA

Happy Woman Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

In a sunny pasture in Oklahoma, a herd of sleek cows was grazing.

They made a pretty picture. But the thin woman in the blue checked apron sighed as she looked at them. She was tired of cows, tired of her tedious work in the dairy. She was tired of cooking for a houseful of boarders, besides caring for her own family. The burdens of life seemed too heavy for her failing health. She had lost confidence in herself.

One day she began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her general health began to improve. She took it faithfully. Now she can do her work without any trouble, sleeps well and is no longer blue and tired.

This woman, Mrs. Cora Short, R. R. 9, Box 396, Oklahoma City, Okla., writes: "Everybody now says: 'Mrs. Short, what are you doing to yourself?' I weigh 135 and my weight before I took it was 115. I have taken seven bottles of the Vegetable Compound."

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action. It soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds, and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga.

DAILY SHORT STORY

THE BEDTIME STORY

By Foxy Grandpa

"THAT Big Dipper is certainly plain tonight," said Bobby looking up into the heavens. "You can always see it, can't you, Foxy Grandpa?"

"Yes," I said, "the Great Bear never sets in the Northern Hemisphere."

"There's a Little Bear, too, isn't there, Foxy Grandpa?"

"It seems that Jupiter and Juno had a very bitter quarrel, Juno was jealous of Calisto, another wife of Jupiter, because she had a fine little boy named Arcas.

"Juno changed Calisto into a bear. Of course this made Jupiter feel very badly and he worried a great deal about Calisto roaming around the woods on her four feet, because in those days in Olympus bear-hunting was very popular and there was no closed season. So you see poor Calisto was in great danger from huntsmen, because they couldn't tell from just looking at her that she was not just a regular bear.

"So Jupiter scratched his kingly head and thought and thought, and finally he hit on a plan to save Calisto. He changed her into a constellation and placed her in the heavens, where she would shine brightly and he could look at her and where the hunters wouldn't bother her. And that is how the constellation which you see up there got its name.

"I see," said Bobby, "Then how did the little bear get up there?"

"In this way. When Arcas the son of Calisto and Jupiter grew up he reigned over a wonderful kingdom called Arcadia.

"One day Arcas was out hunting and right there in the woods he met the most beautiful wood nymph. And she was crying, the tears just streamed down over her beautiful face because the treasured spot she watched was in danger of being uprooted by a swamp, which was flooding. So Arcas quickly changed the course of the stream and saved the tree and what do you think?

"Then he got married," said Bobby.

"Exactly," I laughed, "and when Arcas died Jupiter placed him in the heavens to keep his mother company and that is how he became the Little Bear."

ABOUT 10 o'clock of a Saturday morning Jackie Holworthy was out in the flower garden with a light hoe, digging a trench along the fence for sweet peas. He had only begun the task after many earnest solicitations from Mother Holworthy, and he worked at it in a rather listless manner, since he had no interest in it and could not visualize with any enthusiasm the blossoming results of his labors—a bunch of flowers stuck in a vase meant nothing whatever to Jackie and he had so remarked at breakfast time.

He began to whistle a doleful tune that fitted well into his sombre mood and slacken efforts.

"Oh, mother, dear mother, you know I love you well.
But the love I have for the gambler's man is more than tongue can tell"

"I've gambled up in Washington,
I've gambled down in Spain,
An' now I'm goin' to Georgia, for a crumble my las' game!"

"Is your grandma in?"

Gone Out.

The voice so suddenly into his melody said he was stopped abruptly on a high note and turned to look into the eyes of little Grace Milton, who stood across the fence from him under the birch tree.

"Naw," answered Jackie briefly. "She's gone out with Tom and Dolly to see their new house that's being built. Only the foundations have been laid, but they have to go out there and look at it every chance they get, and argue about where closets will be and how high the windows——"

"Oh, I did so want to see her!" There was a note of cruel disappointment in the girl's voice which made Jackie stop and look at her intently.

He could see now that her dark eyes were filled with unshed tears, and her little face looked white and drawn.

"I—I wanted to ta'k to her—tell her something."

"Anything wrong? Anything I can do?" Jackie asked the questions in an abashed manner, hoping she'd say no and leave him to his labors.

"Something has worried me awfully! And your grandma's about the best friend I have! Oh, I've been so miserable—and all night long I've thought of coming over, soon as she'd finished breakfast, and tellin' her all about it!"

Jackie looked grave.

"You've flunked Latin or something and they've been fussing at you!" he announced. "I wouldn't worry, Gracie. They didn't do so swell at their own classes when they were young. I just let 'em rave on—and of course I always try to work and bring up the mark above 75 per cent. for the next months."

"Oh, it's not that, Jackie." It's something—deeper—than studies."

Jackie dropped his hoe and moved over to the fence across from her, his brows drawn together in a straight, black line.

"Look here, Gracie—you're a nice kid! I like you—we all like you. And I'm not goin' to see anybody bothering you either! If any of those guys around here have been getting fresh——"

"Oh, no—not that! It's my own folks that are worrying me, Jackie—my own family! And they haven't been fussing at me—I—I love them dearly—I live my father best of all! Since my dear mother died, I feel that he's all I've got! I belong to him, and he belongs to me! He's mine!"

Father Gone

"Sure," agreed Jackie, in soothing tones. "But don't get so upset over it. We all love our fathers, I suppose. Is he sick, or anything?" he asked as an afterthought.

"No. He's perfectly well. He's gone to Philadelphia, Jackie. And Jackie, I've just got to tell somebody about it—it's so awful—when he comes back, Jackie—"

The girl paused and strangled a little sob, but her eyes were very wide and bright. "When he comes back, Jackie," she began again, "he'll bring someone with him. Guess who she'll be?"

"I can't imagine! Another aunt of yours?"

"My—my step-mother, Jackie! My father is getting married!"

"Good gosh!" exclaimed Jackie, all of his bashfulness leaving him at the announcement of this startling bit of news.

Then the two young folks looked at each other silently, with wide eyes. Everything will be changed for her, Jackie was thinking. Gracie's whole life will be changed—a stranger entering her home, taking it in charge—perhaps ordering her about!

"Maybe she'll be all right nice," he tried to console her.

"How would you like to be having some woman you didn't know come in to take your mother's place, Jack Holworthy?"

"Couldn't anybody take my mother's place, Gracie," stated Jackie emphatically.

Suddenly the girl put her head down on the fence rail between them and began to sob piteously, heartbroken sobs which she seemed to be vainly trying to muffle.

Jackie reached out a timid hand and touched her brown curls.

"She may not be so bad—she may be real sweet!"

"She'll be horrid—taking my mother's place!"

"She won't be doing that," replied Jackie, with a rare burst of wisdom. "You'll have to make a place for her!"

"Make a place?"

"Sure! Say, Gracie, suppose you were a little older, and were thinking of being married yourself."—here Jackie paused as he felt himself bulshing furiously, but he was relieved to see that the girl's face was turned away as she strove to regain her composure. "Suppose," he continued very seriously, "you'd fallen in love with some chap, and told your father you and he would be married—"

Entirely Different

"That would be entirely different."

"How different? You'd be leaving him, wouldn't you—he'd be all alone—that is, except for your Aunt Eunice."

"I'd be coming to see him often, though!"

"But he'd be alone, just the same. And when you told him about it, and he saw how—well—how you'd made your mind up, and if the fellow were a nice chap—well, I guess he'd pretend to even be pleased at your going—much as he'd miss you—so as not to spoin your happiness."

"Do you really think he would?"

"Sure!"

"Then I should pretend to be pleased, Jackie?"

"Seems to me you just let up, about your own feelings — so you wouldn't be spoiling everything for him now."

She kept her face averted, and she stood very still. She looked very little and helpless, and Jackie felt curiously touched by her sorrow.

"All right," she finally said. "I'll pretend."

A DAMSEL IN DISTRESS

By Louise Peple Armstrong

Jackie felt sorrier than ever then, until suddenly a thought struck him that made him grin bashfully as she turned her head and looked at him again.

"Say," he exclaimed, "I've got to be running downtown for mother in a minute. Go get your hat and cloak on and we'll take in a movie."

A look of excited pleasure stole slowly into her dark eyes. Was this Jack Holworthy, this girl-hater—long and hopelessly admired by all her sex—actually offering to make a date—take her to a show?

"Run, now," growled Jackie, looking past her as the unruly color arose again to his brown cheeks. "I can't be kept waitin' round here all morning!"

"Sure, Jackie! In five minutes I'll be at the gate!"

He watched her little flying feet as they tripped across the way, her slim little figure as it darted in at her door, and without a glance at his forgotten hoe, he, too, hurried in for his coat and cap.

"I'll be ragged for this!" he commented resignedly to himself and then he smiled thoughtfully. "She's a cute kid," he added, "and much I care what they'll be saying!"

Five minutes after they had departed down the street, Mother Holworthy came out and looked at the half-finished trench.

"There's no use expecting that lazy boy to do anything really helpful on Saturdays," she said with a sigh.

FINANCE
—By B. C. Forbes—

Why do British workmen produce less than American workmen? Why are wages for ordinary workers twice as high here as in Britain? Why has the United States progressed to first place among the industrial nations of the world? Why has Britain reached her present unhappy state of chronic unemployment?

A delegation of British workingmen are over here to see with their own eyes American wage earners at work, to see factory and other plant conditions here, to visit homes of our working classes, to find out how much play they enjoy, to learn something about the savings of our workers—in short, to get thoroughly familiar with the work, the wages and the life of their American ly familiar with the work, the wages cousins.

Already, they have expressed astonishment at the much greater prosperity enjoyed by American workers. They have already recognized that more work is done by the American wage earner. They are also impressed, not only by the magnitude of American plants, but by the larger amount of machinery used here, by the ingenuity exhibited in "routing" work, by the efficiency in evidence and by the greater pains taken by employers to provide for the comfort and wellbeing of their people by all sorts of "welfare" planh, and by the interest taken by many employers in making it possible for workers to enjoy attractive homes.

I have lived fully 20 years among British workers and an equal period in this cuontry. The way I feel is this:

The larger amount of machinery at the command of American workers does not alone explain the difference in output or in conditions. There are other considerations, other influences, other reasons.

The climate here is not depressing. Our natural resources are so tremendously large and our domestic market so extensive that it has been possible to make greater progress here towards mass production. This has facilitated the payment of higher wages and the enjoyment of a more generous share of the necessaries and comforts and even luxuries of life by the American people, including wage earners.

In short, as I see it, there is far greater, far more genuine co-operation between workers and management here to achieve results.

Heads Big Bank

Albert H. Wiggin, Massachusetts man, who becomes chairman of board of billion-dollar bank.

Albert H. Wiggin, a Massachusetts man, will be the chairman of the board of directors of the second largest bank in the country, after the stockholders of the Chase National Bank and the Mechanics & Metals National Bank meet today to approve the merger of these two great New York institutions. The bank will have combined resources of $1,025,943,000, being ranked only by the National City Bank's resources of $1,215,033,000. The deposits of the banks are $890,616,157 and $921,573,498, respectively.

The chairman of the board of the new combination began his banking career as a clerk in Boston in 1885, after being graduated from the English High School. Continuing this work until 1891, he was made assistant national bank examiner in Boston, joining the Third National Bank in this city in 1894, as assistant cashier. From there he went to the Eliot National Bank in 1897, as vice-president, going to New York two years later to occupy a similar position with the National Park Bank. In 1904 Mr. Wiggin was made vice-president of the Chase National Bank, subsequently rising to the position of president and then chairman of the board of directors. He was born in Medfield on February 21, 1868.

Houston Oil Company of Texas is one of the oldest oil companies, having been founded in 1901 for the production, transporting and marketing of petroleum oil, and minerals. Today over 90 p. c. of gross revenues are derived from oil sales. The company's properties are located in Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma.

Capitalization shows funded debt of ten-year 6½ per cent. gold notes, due April 1, 1933, $7,000,000 which was listed on the Baltimore Stock Exchange in January, 1926, capital stock $8,947,600 6 per cent. cumulative preferred (par value $100), and $24,983,600 common stock ($100 par value).

Earnings on the common stock have not exceeded 4 per cent. since 1920, but are estimated by the Standard Index to show $5 for 1925, which is better than any year since 1914. No dividends have ever been paid on the common stock, although the last balance sheet shows a book value of $117 per share.

Completion of a subsidiary's 200-mile gas pipe line, which reached profitable operation last September added considerably to earnings for the past year. Until March, 1925, when the note issue was sold, the company had financed its development entirely out of earnings. This change in policy will doubtless be a factor in determining the paying of common dividends as the company's position continues to improve.

As all of this Stock has been sold, this advertisement appears as a matter of record only.

Mr. Gerard B. Lambert, President of Lambert Pharmacal Company, who will be President of The Lambert Company, has furnished a letter in reference to the Company, attached to which is a balance sheet of Lambert Pharmacal Company as of December 31, 1925. Copies of this letter and the balance sheet attached thereto may be obtained from the undersigned upon request. Mr. Lambert has summarized this letter in part, as follows:

"The Lambert Company has been organized under the laws of Delaware to own 56¼% of the capital stock of Lambert Pharmacal Company, a Missouri corporation.

HISTORY AND BUSINESS

Lambert Pharmacal Company was founded 47 years ago to manufacture and sell 'Listerine' and other pharmaceutical products.

Listerine is today the standard antiseptic of the world and it occupies this position approached by no competing preparation. The remarkable merit of the product itself is responsible for its continuing and increasing success, which is evidenced by its uninterrupted growth in sales for about half a century.

Each year since its foundation the Company has made a substantial profit. From 1921 to this date the sales of Listerine as well as the total sales of the Company each month have shown an increase over the sales for the same month of the previous year. As a further illustration of growth, the increase of about $470,000 in the Company's sales of January and February, 1926 over the same two months of 1925 was greater than the increase of January and February, 1925 over the same two months of 1924, when the increase amounted to about $365,000. The net profit of the first two months of 1926, also, shows an increase over the same two months of 1925 greater than the latter's increase over the first two months of 1924. This is in spite of the fact that the advertising expenditures for January and February, 1926 increased over those of the corresponding months of 1925 by a very large figure. The increasing profits of the Company are being augmented by the increasing sales of new products which are being brought out from time to time, such as Listerine Tooth Paste and Listerine Throat Tablets.

The present management and present policies were inaugurated in 1921, and it is the purpose of this issue to enable us to continue that management and those policies. Goldman, Sachs & Co. and Bond & Goodwin, Inc. will each be invited to name a member of the Board of Directors of the new company.

ADVERTISING

The Company's advertising of Listerine has had an unusual record. Starting with practically no expenditure in 1921, each monthly increase in advertising has been met during that month by an increase in profit as great as the advertising increase and a substantial additional profit. The growth of our advertising expenditures is indicated by the fact that in 1925 our advertising expenses were about $2,100,000 and in 1926 they will exceed $3,000,000. The total monthly circulation of the media being employed at this time is certified by the Audit Bureau of Circulation at approximately 65,000,000. During the last four years we have spent over $4,400,000 in advertising.

ASSETS AND DIVIDENDS

Because of the nature of the business and the absence of the necessity for any large capital expenditures, the Board of Directors of Lambert Pharmacal Company has followed the policy of declaring dividends covering a major portion of the earnings each year, there being no need to have in the business any substantial amount of net tangible assets beyond approximately $1,000,000, as shown on the last balance sheet, which is entirely adequate for the present requirements of the business. The Board of Directors of The Lambert Company expects to inaugurate dividends at the annual rate of $3.50 per share by the declaration of a quarterly dividend of 87½ cents per share payable July 1, 1926. During the last four years Lambert Pharmacal Company has paid out a total of $4,675,000 in dividends.

PROFITS

The net profits of Lambert Pharmacal Company for the four years ended December 31, 1925 (after deducting all charges, including Federal income taxes computed at 13½%), the cash dividends paid by that company in those years, and the proportion of such profits applicable to the stockholdings of The Lambert Company (the new company), as certified by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst, Public Accountants, have been as follows:

Years Ended December 31	Net Profits of Lambert Pharmacal Company After Federal Income Taxes at 13½%	Cash Dividends Paid by Lambert Pharmacal Company	Proportion of Net Profits Applicable to Holdings of New Company
1922	$ 724,542.53	$ 520,000.00	$ 407,555.17
1923	1,078,437.31	945,000.00	606,620.99
1924	1,499,210.77	1,410,000.00	843,306.06
1925	2,011,940.89	1,800,000.00	1,131,716.75

Such net profits for the first two months of 1926 were approximately 30.6% greater than those of the corresponding months of 1925."

Price $41.75 Per Share

OPPORTUNITY BECKONS GOOD SAMARITAN

Wanted—a Good Samaritan!

Some broadminded Boston employer who believes in Christian charity can perform an act of immeasurable kindness by acting on the following story.

The precious life and career of a clean-cut young American can be turned into the right channels by practical help, NOW.

A mother's love can be vindicated.

This is not the usual story of a paroled offender. The youth in it is twenty, tall, likeable, well-reared and the possessor of a charming personality. He is not only well-educated but trained in a business college in stenography, typewriting, bookkeeping and other subjects.

He went to a large mid-Western city to work himself up with a concern doing a national business and his employers found him capable, willing to learn and industrious.

Came a holiday and, with a companion, both dressed in Boy Scout clothes, for he was once a scout, he hiked to a city twenty-five miles away. Hiking was his hobby.

Trouble happened because the pair went to a movie show in the neighboring city and lost the last train home. Impulsive youth was a contributing cause. They took an automobile and started home, changed their minds, went to a garage to put the car away for the night and were arrested.

A detective advised "Plead guilty and get probation," but a crime wave had to be coped with by the authorities. The boys were grimy and dusty from hiking and the judge took a hasty look at their appearance and sentenced them to three to five years in the Reformatory.

Then mother love took up the battle for freedom. Two trips West won for her cause the recognition of the Governor and he ordered an investigation, which ended with the reduction of the minimum sentence from three years to eighteen months, making the boy free on April 4, provided—

Provided that in the meantime the mother can assure the Western Governor that she has obtained a good job for her son.

While in the Reformatory the youth has improved himself by acting as assistant librarian and he is eager to assert his honesty and industry. His name is being withheld, but some employer who can help him can get in touch with his mother by writing to the City Editor, Boston Evening American.

BIG VAUDEVILLE SHOW PLANNED

At a meeting of the theatre managers of Boston, April 8th was set as the date for the annual midnight shows to be given in at least two of the largest theatres in Boston for the National Vaudeville Artists' Association Benefit Fund.

R. G. Larsen.

Last year's benefit—when both B. F. Keith's and the Old Boston Theatre were jammed to capacity from 11 o'clock until after 3 in the morning, while over forty acts and seven jass bands kept the shows moving on both stages—proved to be the biggest event of its kind in the amusement history of Boston.

This year the managers are making plans for an even greater event embracing the theatrical interests of the entire city.

The general committee wah formed with R. G. Larsen, general manager of the Keith-Albee interests in Boston as chairman, J. J. McGuinnes of the Olympia circuit, R. B. Grabble of the Metropolitan, Victor J. Morris of the Loew circuit, A. L. Somerby, Frank Hookailo, John Meagher, Jeff Lazarus, Charles Harris, Bart Grady, Alden Peterson, A. W. Lander, Ralph Larsen, Joseph DiPesa and Joe Saxe.

Representative Form of Town Government

Milton Abandons the Mass-Meeting

After several years of consideration, the town of Milton at this year's annual meeting voted to abandon the mass-meeting form of town government in favor of the representative form which Brookline was the pioneer in adopting in 1915, and which nine other towns have since copied with minor variations.

If the next Legislature approves the change, and the new charter is approved by the voters at the next annual election, but one more old-fashioned town meeting will be held in Milton. Instead, the town's policies and appropriations will be determined by a miniature Legislature composed of precinct representatives numbering three per cent. of the registered voters, together with about twenty ex-officio members comprising the elected town officials and the heads of departments.

The need of the change was amply illustrated by the very meeting by which it was indorsed. The Town Hall, which by utilizing its galleries and a small side hall separated from it by removable screens can seat at the most but a thousand of the six thousand registered voters, was crowded to the doors, and contained at least a hundred voters who might as well have remained at home, since they could neither take part in the discussions nor even hear what was going on within range of the moderator's voice.

As a result, a very important change in the zoning law affecting every citizen directly or indirectly, and requiring by statute a two-thirds vote for its adoption, was carried by an affirmative vote of 533, or considerably less than ten per cent. of the registered voters. Even the representative plan of town government, which was evidently favored in principle by nearly all who were able to keep in touch with the proceedings, was indorsed by a vote only a little exceeding ten per cent.

The Milton plan conforms to the Brookline model in the main, but with some interesting variations. At the first election of precinct representatives the members-elect will be divided into three classes, the third receiving the largest number of votes in each precinct being elected for three years, the third with the next largest for two years, and the third least favored by the voters for one year only. In subsequent years one-third of the precinct's quota will be elected for the three-year term. The selectmen and other elective officials will continue to be chosen annually.

At the representative town meeting any citizen is privileged to sit on the side lines, as it were, and address the meeting if he or she so elects; but only the members can vote. The privilege does not appear to have been availed of to any great extent in the towns where the representative plan is in operation; but neither does it appear to have interfered as it might conceivably do with the transaction of business, or to have given encouragement to the well-known blatherskite type of town-meeting oratory.

All the towns provide for a referendum on certain contested issues, but the Milton referendum is the most liberal yet adopted. In Brookline, for instance, the referendum applies only to appropriations of $20,000 and upwards, evidently being intended primarily for the protection of the taxpayers.

But the Milton referendum applies to all appropriations and to issues of policy also, no action of the representative meeting, except on emergency measures, taking effect until all the voters have had an opportunity to approve or reject it at a special election, if a referendum is requested by five per cent. of the voters.

One unique feature in the Milton plan requires the town clerk to keep and supply to the local papers a record of attendance of the elected members, and also of the rollcalls which are obligatory at the request of twenty representatives. The record of attendance has been voluntarily adopted by the representatives themselves in one or two towns, with a gratifying increase in the average number present, but has not been inserted in any charter.

Another amendment to the plan as originally submitted undertook to provide for preliminary meetings of all the voters in the several precincts "in order to afford the precinct representatives a sufficient opportunity to discuss pending measures with their constituents, and learn their opinions and wishes relative thereto." This amendment, which, if adopted, would evidently have retained all that it is possible for a large town to retain of the democratic features of the time-honored small-town government, found considerable favor, but was opposed by the committee that drafted the plan and was rejected by the town meeting.

During the comparatively few years since the adoption by Brookline of this compromise between the town and city forms of government it appears to have worked to the general satisfaction in every town that has actually given it a trial, though the voters of Wakefield, after once approving the plan and petitioning the Legislature for a charter, have refused to accept the charter which was granted, and are understood to prefer to become a city.

On the other hand, the argument that rejection of the representative plan would make inevitable an early change to the city form of government was evidently very influential in determining the action of the Milton town meeting.

Jealousy, How It Burns

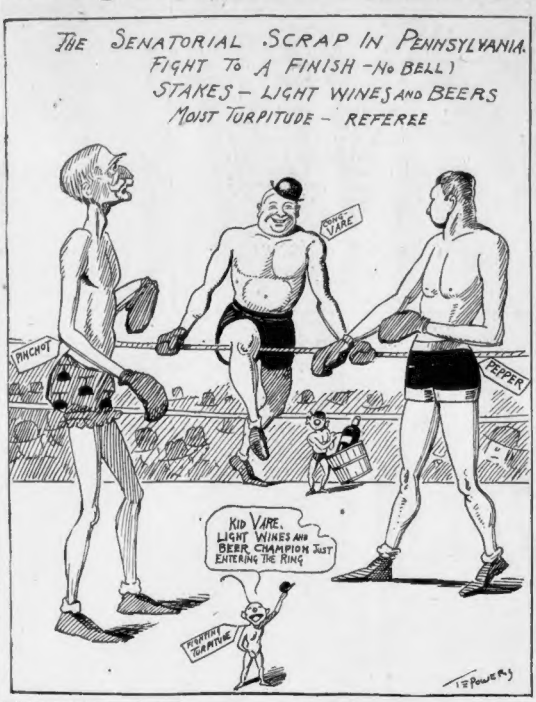
And How Cruel

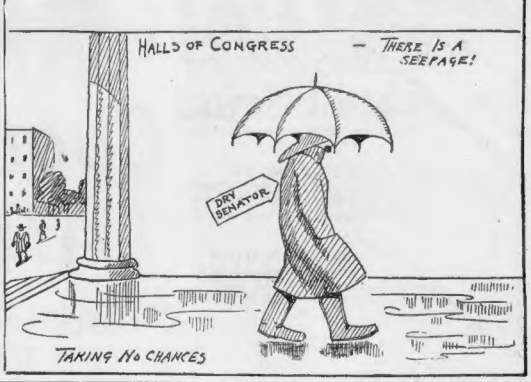
Jacob C. Nesbit, a college graduate, football player, fraternity member, etc., married Frances, a college girl, and both were employed selling kitchen utensils. She, the better salesman, mocked his lack of salesmanship, and he killed her. Actors shouldn't marry actresses, tenors should not marry sopranos if they sing for a living. It seems extraordinary and preposterous, but nothing is more common than professional jealousy between husbands and wives.

And don't forget that jealousy is the most violent and merciless of human emotions. King Solomon knew it, and wrote in his song: "For love is strong as death; jealousy is cruel as the grave; the coals thereof are coals of fire, which hath a most vehement flame." Pray Heaven to guard you from jealousy.

The Big Scrap at Prohibition Hall

By T. E. Powers





LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

BY the time this goes to press, Vera, Countess of Cathcart, will be sitting pretty. And it will mean nothing to my young life.

But the thing which we citizens of America did to Vera, Countess of Cathcart, matters very much to me and, as one of those citizens, I'm going to say so with all my loudest adjectives.

Some time ago certain gentlemen with a lot of fine ideas founded this country. They were not perfect individuals, but their scheme was wonderful. They were going to have something in this country which no other country ever had before—freedom. Particularly religious freedom—freedom for the individual to find his own good god in his own way. He would, of course, be expected to work with other individuals—to keep the peace and pay his taxes. But outside of that he would smooch along much as he pleased. Which same was regarded as Glad Tidings by the harassed ladies and gentlemen of that day.

Well, of course, the scheme didn't work out quite as pretty as those gentlemen thought it would. There were various depressing incidents like burning witches, banishing Roger Williams, hanging negroes and a few other expressions of local hysteria. But take us by and large, we were a bunch of pretty good eggs. It was a nice country to live in and all our neighbors envied us.

Until—

There was a war—

Taste For Blood

And during that war we, who had been almost vegetarians, got a taste for human blood. Particularly did the picky little weaklings who couldn't get over and fight get a taste for gore. So they bought themselves nifty suit and organized in committee and began to heckle everything in sight. Which was appropriate enough during war times. But the war's been over quite a while now. And instead of going back to our cold slaw and knitting we are stronger than ever for chewing our neighbor's leg.

As a consequence, we've become the world's prize nation of Meddlers and Interferers. Why, the head hunting Maoris are nearer the original American Idea of Freedom than we are. All they do is to glom a chap's head. Whereas we want to bring home his immortal soul and nail it over the lodge room door.

Which brings us down to Vera Personally, Vera seems to me a very small squeak in the eternal stream of consciousness. But even at that, the lady has her rights. One of those rights was to find her own god in her own way, as guaranteed by our Constitution. Like many other fool she-mortals, she found her god in love. The immediate object of her affections was Lord Craven. He was more immediate than than he subsequently proved to be and she thought he was a Good Bet. She left the husband, with whom she seems to have had little in common and from whom she could not get a divorce, and eloped with Lord Craven.

Doubtless you wouldn't have eloped with him. Neither would I But it seemed to her an ideal thing to do. She has made a public statement of the case through a National Magazine. The statement was somewhat smarty in spots, but it was sincere. She really loved him. She thought she was doing the right thing.

The Telltale "D"

In time, the Earl of Cathcart divorced her, Lord Craven left her and rejoined his wife, and Vera was left to face the world as best she might. She came to this country. There was a "D" after her name on the ship's lists. That "D" didn't stand for Devil or Degenerate. It simply stood for divorced. Divorce is an institution recognized in all American States. Yearly we export large amounts of divorced ladies and gentlemen. Yet because that "D" stood after Vera's name we've locked her up and are trying our best to get rid of her. We would be vastly aggrieved if any foreign nation should subject our citizens to the gross humiliation to which we have subjected this lady. We would be furious indignant if our private affairs were made the subject of governmental comment by some foreign nations, as here have been. We'd call names and hurl manifestos and raise Cain generally.

Therefore, as one of us, I rise and move that it be recorded in the minutes that we're making Large Low Faced Fools of Ourselves.

We've no more business to mix in Vera's private morals than we have to regulate the length of the shirt tails on Mars.

CUTTING THE HEAD OFF A PRESIDENT

By DR. FRANK CRANE

NOT in reality, but beheading his wooden image. At one time a wooden image some seven feet high adorned the structure of "The Constitution" while it was in Charlestown Bay.

"Old Hickory" had a number of severe critics as well as admirers in Boston, and when the statue was set up in 1834 about a month afterwards a certain Captain Dewey, reported to be the daredevil of Boston, succeeded on the night of July 1st in eluding the guard on board the ship and severing the head from the body of the Jackson figure.

The head of the figure wandered about the country in Dewey's possession and at one time was shown to "Old Hickory" himself at the White House. This audacious gesture rather appealed to Jackson, who had a sense of humor and a flair of his own for daredeviltry.

The image was finally restored to its proper place and all that is left to mark the incident is a deep crack that runs around the throat. Few people know the history of that crack.

The image was once sold to the proprietor of a resort on Lake Mascupic, not far from Boston. Henry Ford bid $10,000 for it, but did not get it. From this can be seen what value it has as an antique.

Following the publication of Oliver Wendell Holmes' well-known poem, "Old Ironsides," there was a countrywide movement to preserve "The Constitution," and only a few week ago there was another drive for that same purpose which culminated in the ceremony of rechristening the vessel.

A book recently published called "Old Hickory's Prisoner" presents him as a very human figure, not only an intrepid commander, and a humorous and interesting and understand friend.

Too much cannot be done to make the great figures of American history human to us.

Three Minute Journeys

By TEMPLE MANNING

AMONG the Druses there is no crime comparable with cowardice. Bravery, courage in battle, is the mark of the true man. And the member of the tribe who is guilty of cowardice must die.

But the sentence is not passed upon him by a judge in a courtroom. The important moments in the lives of the Druses occur over the cups of coffee which mark all ceremonies.

The drinking of coffee is in itself a ceremony. The implements for making the coffee are most complicated. If the host wishes to honor his guest particularly he makes the coffee himself. The guests sit in a circle on the floor, for the only furnishings of the room are grass mats and cushions on the stone divans.

When a man proves himself a coward in battle nothing is said to him immediately thereafter. But the next time the warriors sit in their circle to drink their coffee the host, in handing the marked man his coffee spills the contents of the cup over his clothes. Nothing more is said, but the man must die in the next battle.

No matter how brave he proves on that next occasion, he must in the end yield himself to the attack of the enemy. Otherwise his entire family, as well as himself, are disgraced.

The life of the Druses is chiefly a matter of battles. Boys are trained to handle revolvers and rifles at an age when we would hesitate to give our boys toy revolvers. At thirteen they are seasoned warriors.

But their explanation of this fact is simple. They are not afraid to die, because they are taught that when they die their souls pass immediately into the bodies of a new born Druse baby. There is no period of waiting and no chance of coming into the world again as an animal. They simply continue life in another body.

The boys wear long braids and have their finger tips hennaed. Their eyes are heavily blackened. But they laugh in the face of death.

Very Bareback, BUT---

YOU Don't Like It, Nor Do WE

This barebacked young lady is Miss Dora Duby, a young American dancer, now "delighting Paris."

This is published merely to say "WE don't like it," and we are sure that YOU don't like it, either.

This lady means well, of course, and she must make a living. Evidently SOMEBODY in Paris likes to see a woman appear in this kind of costume or lack of costume.

There is nothing artistic, nothing beautiful, nothing worth while about it. Modesty is more pleasing than all the barebacks in or out of the circus.

In the days of ancient Greece, young men and women competed in the races stark naked, after long and careful training. There was no immodesty or impurity in that, because there was no THOUGHT of immodesty, and it was the custom of the day.

Everything is in the intention, the thought.

Take a beautiful Greek marble statue of a woman entirely undressed, the work of a great artist—nothing could be more modest, more inspiring.

Put a garter on one of the legs, or, worse still, put a linen undershirt on the upper part of the body, and you have an indecent monstrosity. You change the THOUGHT with which the thing is seen.

Girls in their dress should remember that what men like is SELF-RESPECT in women. Anybody, at a glance, can see that which is intended to be indecent and that which is NOT.

It is all in the thought, all in the INTENTION.
